Military Gains Might Explain Khrush Switch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Monday Russia's military gains may explain why Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is taking a tougher attitude on Berlin and East-West issues.

The secretary, holding his first news conference in two months, said there was no question but what the Soviet leader was talking more sternly about Berlin and Germany than he did three months ago.

Herter cited Communist declarations that the Red bloc would make a separate pact with Communist East Germany and let the allies take the "consequences" if the West refused to agree to a peace treaty with divided Germany on Russian terms.

Herter Takes Stand

The secretary said that if Russia announces any one-sided action on Germany before there is full discussion with the Allies, it would violate the spirit of the agreement reached by Khrushchev and President Eisenhower at Camp David, Md., last fall.

The Soviet leader agreed then that there was no time limit on the Berlin negotiations, although he warned that they could not go on "indefinitely."

Herter said he did not think the forthcoming summit conference would meet his insistence on full discussion. He explained it was difficult to believe that a few top men in just a few days would have time to work out a real draft agreement on Germany.

He thought it more likely that any general agreement reached would have to be referred back to the foreign ministers who would try to fill out the details for ratification at another follow-up summit conference.

Cuban Relations Improving

Herter's 35-minute question and answer session with reporters also provided these statements:

—Cuban-American relations are somewhat better but have not reached the stage where it would be profitable for U.S. Ambassador Philip J. Bonsal to return to Havana, where he has been accused of plotting against the Fidel Castro regime.

—The United States is not ready to say whether it thinks the Organization of American States should take some action to protect human rights in the Dominican Republic.

—The secretary would not rule out the possibility that the administration will request legislation this session to liberalize the Atomic Energy Act to give some nuclear weapons to trusted Allies.

DJs Testify

Disc Jockeys Admit Accepting Record Firms' Costly Gifts

House Group Opens "Payola" Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Boston radio disc jockeys conceded Monday they accepted costly gifts from record distributors but denied the presents influenced them to plug certain records on their broadcasts.

The witnesses, David Maynard and Alan Dary, both of station WBZ, made the admission at the opening of a House subcommittee's investigation of "payola" and other allegedly deceptive radio-TV practices.

Paul G. O'Friel, general manager of the station, acknowledged earlier that he once sent two employes to New York to solicit free records and that they returned with a load valued by the subcommittee at possibly $15,000.

Maynard conceded the accuracy of subcommittee figures showing that he received a total of $6,817 from four record companies from Jan. 1, 1957, through last Nov. 30. The total included payments on his station wagon and a convertible.

Dary said he received $400 or $500, a hi-fi set and liquor from record distributors. He said he considered them Christmas gifts.

Both Dary and Maynard denied that the gifts were designed to persuade them to play the donors' records.

Maynard said the payments were expression of gratitude from the companies for playing their records at "record hops" which were not broadcast.

Subcommittee members were openly skeptical. They told Maynard he was "less than frank."

O'Friel told the subcommittee the station placed both Maynard and Dary on probation after it learned about the gifts.

O'Friel's testimony about the record-soliciting trip to New York prompted Rep. Peter Mack Jr., (D-Ill.) to comment that the donation of the platters was "a form of payola."

O'Friel quickly challenged Mack's assertion. He said it was "a long standing practice" in the broadcasting industry for record companies to supply free records to stations.

O'Friel was the first public witness as the subcommittee opened its investigation of "payola"—under the table payments to plug certain records—and other deceptive practices in the radio and television industry.

Mystery Sub Hunt Continues

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine Navy said Monday seven ships and a group of military planes are continuing a hunt for a mystery submarine.

But officials said they could not say whether the boat was still in the Golfo Nuevo, where the Navy says it detected strange objects, presumably submarines, a week ago.

The Navy secretary made the comments after meeting with President Arturo Frondizi. He said he did not know if the submarine had been damaged by depth charges.

Yugo Court Sends Six Priests To Prison

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Six Roman Catholic priests and two theology students were sentenced Monday to prison terms ranging from 2½ to 7 years on charges of working against the Yugoslav state.

A Communist court convicted the group, from the Catholic seminary at Djakovo in northern Croatia, of slandering the Yugoslav government and promoting religious and national hatred.

They were charged with spreading propaganda for many years for Ustachi, a Fascist group which ruled the Nazi puppet state of Croatia during World War II.

Queen Adds Mountbatten To Royal Family's Name

The Queen's decision adds Prince Philip's name, Mountbatten, to the Queen's own name of Windsor.

No one will be eligible to use the new name for about 40 years. This is because royal princes and princesses in direct line for the throne do not use a surname.

The first to use it will be the Queen's great grandchildren, and only those out of the direct line.

The Queen's tribute to her husband came as crowds of sightseers kept vigil at the palace gates for any sign of the birth of the Queen's third child. It is expected any day.

Philip returned to Buckingham Palace two days ago from a shooting vacation in Norfolk to be near when her child is born.

The Queen's privy councillors—her state advisers — were summoned to the palace Monday. Then, in the ornate language of the royal proclamation, they were told how the Queen wished her descendants to be known.

The Queen's declaration ended:

"Now therefore I declare my will and pleasure that, while I and my children shall continue to be styled and known as the house and family of Windsor, my descendants, other than descendants enjoying the style, title or attribute of royal highness and the titular dignity of prince or princess and female descendants who marry and their descendants, shall bear the name of Mountbatten-Windsor."

Ike To Propose Farm Program Changes Today

He will ask that something be done about a crop control program that is failing to prevent a costly accumulation of wheat in which taxpayers already have 3½ billion dollars invested.

Eisenhower is also expected to urge changes in programs for tobacco and peanuts.

No changes are expected to be recommended for programs covering cotton, rice, corn, other livestock feed grains, dairy products, oilseeds and other price-supported commodities.

If Eisenhower adheres to previous recommendations, he will call for lower price supports and elimination of controls on wheat.

There was speculation in political circles that Eisenhower might indicate a willingness to compromise with critics on the question of price-support levels.

Some Midwestern Republicans with an eye on coming elections —as well as Democrats — have criticized lower supports on the ground that they are unpopular with farm voters.

Other possible farm recommendations include:

1. A three-year extension and expansion in the soil bank cropland retirement.

2. An expansion in government research programs for finding new markets and new uses for farm products.

3. Greater emphasis on a food-for-peace program for moving farm surpluses to underdeveloped countries.

4. Expansion of the rural development program designed to help low-income farm families find better opportunities on and off farms.

5. An increase in interest rates charged by the Rural Electrification Administration on rural power and telephone project loans. The present rate is 2 per cent a year, which is less than the money costs the government.

New Plea Set For Chessman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Death-cell author Caryl Chessman lost another legal battle Monday to escape a date in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber Feb. 19.

Defense attorneys, however, said an immediate appeal would be made to the U.S. Supreme Court, which already has considered the case 13 times.

If this fails, an appeal for clemency probably could be made to California Gov. Edmund Brown. But Chessman, commenting at San Quentin said:

"I will not ask the governor for clemency.

"I feel that this time it will be the little room (the execution chamber) at the end of the hall. This is the first time I have ever said that."

Chessman was sentenced to death in 1948 for kidnaping, robbery and perverted sexual assaults against two women. He has been in death row nearly 12 years and has escaped seven earlier execution dates through numerous legal moves.

His latest bid for a stay of execution was denied Monday by Judge Richard Chambers, Chief Justice of the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Chambers also refused to issue a certificate granting Chessman a hearing before the full U.S. Court of Appeals. There he would have appealed U.S. District Judge Louis E. Goodman's refusal to grant a writ of habeas corpus.

Navy Denies Marines Landed In Dominican

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy denied Monday Cuban newspaper charges that American Marines were being landed in the neighboring Dominican Republic.

The Navy, commenting on the charges, said there could not have been more than 25 Marines in Ciudad Trujillo over the weekend, and they were on liberty. They said there may have been as many as 1,200 American sailors on liberty in the city also.

Russia Likely To Step Up Fire At Bonn Leader

BONN, Germany (AP) — Western officials said Monday they expect the Soviet Union to grow "noisier and nastier" in dealing with the Berlin problem between now and the summit meeting May 16.

These officials said the Soviets are likely to aim increasingly heavy verbal fire at German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He has been a prime Communist target for the past month or so and there is little sign of a letup.

Adenauer has been pictured as a warmonger, the architect of the cold war, and a villain fighting efforts to bring harmony between East and West.

So far this campaign by the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany appears to have done little more than stiffen the Western stand against concessions on Berlin.

President Eisenhower last week told a news conference a grave situation would exist if the Soviets were to try to limit Western occupation rights in Berlin. The Eisenhower statement was cheered by political circles in Bonn.

Adenauer, the Christian Democrat leader, has been working in recent months to create a solid front with Willy Brandt, the Socialist mayor of West Berlin. After a series of conferences, they announced they were in perfect agreement on a tough Western position on Berlin.

Both parties strongly oppose negotiations between West Germany and the East German regime.

This position is diametrically opposed to the Soviet view that Germany can be reunited only through direct negotiations between the two Germanys.

Towson Woman Dies In Blaze

The fire apparently started in a frame warehouse, quickly spread to the second-floor apartments and jumped to two adjacent houses.

Two other tenants on the second floor of the warehouse building escaped, one by climbing down a ladder.

Firemen from Towson, Parkville and Lutherville answered the two alarms. One fireman, Patrick Peters of Towson, was treated at the scene for smoke inhalation.

Traffic on East Chesapeake Avenue and York Road was tied up for almost two hours.

Sen. Symington Threatens Red Missile Expose

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) Monday threatened to make public secret intelligence estimates of Russian missile strength if the Eisenhower administration continues to insist that the Red rocket threat has abated.

Symington, chief administration defense critic and a former Air Force secretary, said Congress had been given figures by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) showing the Russian threat had "increased considerably" over last year.

Social Security Boost Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee Monday proposed a 50 per cent increase in minimum Social Security benefits coupled with an expansion of the system to provide pre-paid medical care for covering old folks.

It also called for establishment of a national "office of the aging" to meet problems arising from a "population explosion" among Americans 65 or older. The recommendations were made in the first of a series of subcommittee reports on problems of the aged.

The report was seen as part of a Democratic drive to push through a liberalized Social Security law this session when it will be hard for election-minded lawmakers to resist.

The subcommittee recommended that Social Security benefits be raised from the present $33 minimum to at least $50 a month. It did not say how these and other benefits would be financed, but Social Security taxes presumably would have to be raised.

Nixon Scores Defense 'Numbers Game' Critics

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon said Monday night there is "no gap in our overall deterrent strength" and warned against critics who play a "numbers game" of missiles, submarines and aircraft carriers.

Nixon devoted much of his speech at a Republican Lincoln Day dinner to defending the administration's national defense policy and economic philosophy and praising its role in civil rights.

At a news conference earlier, Nixon said an announcement on whether he will enter the Wisconsin presidential primary April 5 would be made later this week.

The vice president said the real test of an adequate defense is not whether the United States can match a potential enemy weapon for weapon, but whether the nation has enough overall strength that its retaliatory power can not be eliminated.

"Not only do we have that kind of strength today, but we have a program which we believe is adequate to maintain that position in the future," Nixon said. "There is no gap in our overall deterrent strength. And what is more important, Mr. K. (Khrushchev) knows this to be the case."

Nixon said debate on national defense "can be constructive" but criticism can become destructive when emphasis on alleged weakness overlooks acknowledged strengths and has the effect of making the United States appear to be a "sitting duck" for an aggressor.

Khrush Urges Visiting Gronchi To Become Red

ROME (AP) — An Italian news agency reported Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Monday urged Italian President Giovanni Gronchi to become a Communist and remain in the Soviet Union.

"Don't lose your time, don't go back and don't be preoccupied by a question of (political) party," Khrushchev was quoted as telling Gronchi.

The affair, as reported in a Moscow dispatch carried by the Italian news agency, Ansa, came after toasts at an Italian Embassy luncheon given by Gronchi for Khrushchev and Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov. Italian newsmen in Moscow have been reporting the visit there of Gronchi and Italian Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pellla without censorship.

(Moscow-based Associated Press correspondents reported their story of the luncheon was held up by censorship).

Ansa gave this account:

"Ours is the most democratic of all democratic regimes," Khrushchev said. "Under the capitalistic regime, the man who has more dollars is the most intelligent. Under the Socialist regime, he is the most intelligent who has more intelligence. Think again on this and you'll become a Communist.

The toast finished, Khrushchev turned to Pella, saying:

"I asked the president to become a Communist, but I was thinking of you too."

Pella replied: "It would be very difficult for the president to accept your proposal."

Khrushchev: "But I always propose difficult problems. And moreover, I don't make proposals. I invite you. I attract you. I accept you and I wish you all the best."

Gronchi: "I would like to present Premier Khrushchev with a good wish. Maybe some day, touched by divine grace, he will enter the Christian Democrat party."

Burke Calls For Polaris Missile Fleet

Rep. Cannon Backs Moves To Increase Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, in a bid to build a missile-firing submarine fleet as soon as possible, will ask for 975 million dollars to pay for six more of the craft than are currently planned.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, told this to a Senate hearing Monday, but he said he isn't sure the Defense Department will approve the proposal.

If the request is relayed to Congress and passed there, the Polaris submarine program would be shoved forward by more than a third. At present 15 of the nuclear-powered boats are on the way, in one stage or another.

Burke testified earlier that a fleet of 45 such subs, equipped with 16 missiles each to strike at targets in the Soviet Union from under the sea, would give the United States a big enough retaliatory force to keep the Soviets at bay.

Burke Evades Direct Answer

Questioned by Democratic senators, Burke said he probably would continue to support President Eisenhower's budget even if the President should turn down the Navy's appeal for a stepup in the Polaris program.

"If I didn't accept it, I wouldn't remain in my present position," the Navy chief said.

Sen. Howard Cannon (D-Nev.), pressed Burke for a yes or no answer as to whether the administration defense budget is "doing enough to protect the safety and security of this country at this time."

"I can't answer it yes or no," Burke said.

But a resounding "no" came from the other side of Capitol Hill where the chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee declared the United States has forfeited control over land, sea and air by spending too little for defense.

Rep. Cannon Arouses Republicans

Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), who usually holds tight to the government pursestring, appealed for an increase in President Eisenhower's 41-billion-dollar military budget.

And he threw his considerable influence behind moves to triple the money sought by Eisenhower to prepare for a constant airborne vigil by U.S. bombers.

"Every city in the United States is subject to direct attack and our enemy has the weapons to launch such an attack now," Cannon told the House.

"By 1963 he will be able to destroy every major city on the face of the earth."

Republicans sprang to their feet and accused Cannon of trying to "scare the American people to death."

Rep. John R. Rhodes (R-Ariz.), said statements like Cannon's hand Russia a potential psychological weapon and deepen the danger that the Communists might spark war by misjudging U.S. strength.

11¼-Ounce Baby Fails To Survive

The son of service station operator Morris Vermeulen and his 23-year-old wife died at 3:16 a.m. in Still Osteopathic Hospital after 27 hours and 54 minutes of life.

The baby, born three months prematurely, was one of the smallest on record ever to survive so long. But doctors had never given it much chance to live.

Military Gains Might Explain Khrush Switch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Monday Russia's military gains may explain why Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is taking a tougher attitude on Berlin and East-West issues.

The secretary, holding his first news conference in two months, said there was no question but what the Soviet leader was talking more sternly about Berlin and Germany than he did three months ago.

Herter cited Communist declarations that the Red bloc would make a separate pact with Communist East Germany and let the allies take the "consequences" if the West refused to agree to a peace treaty with divided Germany on Russian terms.

Herter Takes Stand

The secretary said that if Russia announces any one-sided action on Germany before there is full discussion with the Allies, it would violate the spirit of the agreement reached by Khrushchev and President Eisenhower at Camp David, Md., last fall.

The Soviet leader agreed then that there was no time limit on the Berlin negotiations, although he warned that they could not go on "indefinitely."

Herter said he did not think the forthcoming summit conference would meet his insistence on full discussion. He explained it was difficult to believe that a few top men in just a few days would have time to work out a real draft agreement on Germany.

He thought it more likely that any general agreement reached would have to be referred back to the foreign ministers who would try to fill out the details for ratification at another follow-up summit conference.

Cuban Relations Improving

Herter's 35-minute question and answer session with reporters also provided these statements:

—Cuban-American relations are somewhat better but have not reached the stage where it would be profitable for U.S. Ambassador Philip J. Bonsal to return to Havana, where he has been accused of plotting against the Fidel Castro regime.

Disc Jockeys Admit Accepting Record Firms' Costly Gifts

House Group Opens "Payola" Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Boston radio disc jockeys conceded Monday they accepted costly gifts from record distributors but denied the presents influenced them to plug certain records on their broadcasts.

The witnesses, David Maynard and Alan Dary, both of station WBZ, made the admission at the opening of a House subcommittee's investigation of "payola" and other allegedly deceptive radio-TV practices.

Paul G. O'Friel, general manager of the station, acknowledged earlier that he once sent two employes to New York to solicit free records and that they returned with a load valued by the subcommittee at possibly $15,000.

Maynard conceded the accuracy of subcommittee figures showing that he received a total of $6,817 from four record companies from Jan. 1, 1957, through last Nov. 30. The total included payments on his station wagon and a convertible.

Dary said he received $400 or $500, a hi-fi set and liquor from record distributors. He said he considered them Christmas gifts.

Both Dary and Maynard denied that the gifts were designed to persuade them to play the donors' records.

Maynard said the payments were expression of gratitude from the companies for playing their records at "record hops" which were not broadcast.

Subcommittee members were openly skeptical. They told Maynard he was "less than frank."

O'Friel told the subcommittee the station placed both Maynard and Dary on probation after it learned about the gifts.

O'Friel's testimony about the record-soliciting trip to New York prompted Rep. Peter Mack Jr., (D-Ill.) to comment that the donation of the platters was "a form of payola."

O'Friel quickly challenged Mack's assertion. He said it was "a long standing practice" in the broadcasting industry for record companies to supply free records to stations.

O'Friel was the first public witness as the subcommittee opened its investigation of "payola"—under the table payments to plug certain records—and other deceptive practices in the radio and television industry.

Queen Adds Mountbatten To Royal Family's Name

The Queen's decision adds Prince Philip's name, Mountbatten, to the Queen's own name of Windsor.

No one will be eligible to use the new name for about 40 years. This is because royal princes and princesses in direct line for the throne do not use a surname.

The first to use it will be the Queen's great grandchildren, and only those out of the direct line.

The Queen's tribute to her husband came as crowds of sightseers kept vigil at the palace gates for any sign of the birth of the Queen's third child. It is expected any day.

The Queen's declaration ended: "Now therefore I declare my will and pleasure that, while I and my children shall continue to be styled and known as the house and family of Windsor, my descendants, other than descendants enjoying the style, title or attribute of royal highness and the titular dignity of prince or princess and female descendants who marry and their descendants, shall bear the name of Mountbatten-Windsor."

Ike To Propose Farm Program Changes Today

He will ask that something be done about a crop control program that is failing to prevent a costly accumulation of wheat in which taxpayers already have 3½ billion dollars invested.

Eisenhower is also expected to urge changes in programs for tobacco and peanuts.

No changes are expected to be recommended for programs covering cotton, rice, corn, other livestock feed grains, dairy products, oilseeds and other price-supported commodities.

If Eisenhower adheres to previous recommendations, he will call for lower price supports and elimination of controls on wheat.

There was speculation in political circles that Eisenhower might indicate a willingness to compromise with critics on the question of price-support levels.

Some Midwestern Republicans with an eye on coming elections —as well as Democrats — have criticized lower supports on the ground that they are unpopular with farm voters.

Other possible farm recommendations include:

1. A three-year extension and expansion in the soil bank cropland retirement.

2. An expansion in government research programs for finding new markets and new uses for farm products.

3. Greater emphasis on a food-for-peace program for moving farm surpluses to underdeveloped countries.

4. Expansion of the rural development program designed to help low-income farm families find better opportunities on and off farms.

5. An increase in interest rates charged by the Rural Electrification Administration on rural power and telephone project loans. The present rate is 2 per cent a year, which is less than the money costs the government.

New Plea Set For Chessman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Death-cell author Caryl Chessman lost another legal battle Monday to escape a date in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber Feb. 19.

Defense attorneys, however, said an immediate appeal would be made to the U.S. Supreme Court, which already has considered the case 13 times.

If this fails, an appeal for clemency probably could be made to California Gov. Edmund Brown. But Chessman, commenting at San Quentin said:

"I will not ask the governor for clemency.

"I feel that this time it will be the little room (the execution chamber) at the end of the hall. This is the first time I have ever said that."

Chessman was sentenced to death in 1948 for kidnaping, robbery and perverted sexual assaults against two women. He has been in death row nearly 12 years and has escaped seven earlier execution dates through numerous legal moves.

His latest bid for a stay of execution was denied Monday by Judge Richard Chambers, Chief Justice of the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Chambers also refused to issue a certificate granting Chessman a hearing before the full U.S. Court of Appeals. There he would have appealed U.S. District Judge Louis E. Goodman's refusal to grant a writ of habeas corpus.

Russia Likely To Step Up Fire At Bonn Leader

Towson Woman Dies In Blaze

The fire apparently started in a frame warehouse, quickly spread to the second-floor apartments and jumped to two adjacent houses.

Two other tenants on the second floor of the warehouse building escaped, one by climbing down a ladder.

Firemen from Towson, Parkville and Lutherville answered the two alarms. One fireman, Patrick Peters of Towson, was treated at the scene for smoke inhalation.

Traffic on East Chesapeake Avenue and York Road was tied up for almost two hours.

Sen. Symington Threatens Red Missile Expose

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) Monday threatened to make public secret intelligence estimates of Russian missile strength if the Eisenhower administration continues to insist that the Red rocket threat has abated.

Symington, chief administration defense critic and a former Air Force secretary, said Congress had been given figures by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) showing the Russian threat had "increased considerably" over last year.

Social Security Boost Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee Monday proposed a 50 per cent increase in minimum Social Security benefits coupled with an expansion of the system to provide pre-paid medical care for covering old folks.

It also called for establishment of a national "office of the aging" to meet problems arising from a "population explosion" among Americans 65 or older. The recommendations were made in the first of a series of subcommittee reports on problems of the aged.

The report was seen as part of a Democratic drive to push through a liberalized Social Security law this session when it will be hard for election-minded lawmakers to resist.

The subcommittee recommended that Social Security benefits be raised from the present $33 minimum to at least $50 a month. It did not say how these and other benefits would be financed, but Social Security taxes presumably would have to be raised.

Nixon Scores Defense 'Numbers Game' Critics

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon said Monday night there is "no gap in our overall deterrent strength" and warned against critics who play a "numbers game" of missiles, submarines and aircraft carriers.

Nixon devoted much of his speech at a Republican Lincoln Day dinner to defending the administration's national defense policy and economic philosophy and praising its role in civil rights.

At a news conference earlier, Nixon said an announcement on whether he will enter the Wisconsin presidential primary April 5 would be made later this week.

The vice president said the real test of an adequate defense is not whether the United States can match a potential enemy weapon for weapon, but whether the nation has enough overall strength that its retaliatory power can not be eliminated.

"Not only do we have that kind of strength today, but we have a program which we believe is adequate to maintain that position in the future," Nixon said. "There is no gap in our overall deterrent strength. And what is more important, Mr. K. (Khrushchev) knows this to be the case."

Nixon said debate on national defense "can be constructive" but criticism can become destructive when emphasis on alleged weakness overlooks acknowledged strengths and has the effect of making the United States appear to be a "sitting duck" for an aggressor.

Khrush Urges Visiting Gronchi To Become Red

ROME (AP) — An Italian news agency reported Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Monday urged Italian President Giovanni Gronchi to become a Communist and remain in the Soviet Union.

"Don't lose your time, don't go back and don't be preoccupied by a question of (political) party," Khrushchev was quoted as telling Gronchi.

The affair, as reported in a Moscow dispatch carried by the Italian news agency, Ansa, came after toasts at an Italian Embassy luncheon given by Gronchi for Khrushchev and Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov. Italian newsmen in Moscow have been reporting the visit there of Gronchi and Italian Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pellla without censorship.

(Moscow-based Associated Press correspondents reported their story of the luncheon was held up by censorship).

Ansa gave this account:

"Ours is the most democratic of all democratic regimes," Khrushchev said. "Under the capitalistic regime, the man who has more dollars is the most intelligent. Under the Socialist regime, he is the most intelligent who has more intelligence. Think again on this and you'll become a Communist.

The toast finished, Khrushchev turned to Pella, saying:

"I asked the president to become a Communist, but I was thinking of you too."

Pella replied: "It would be very difficult for the president to accept your proposal."

Khrushchev: "But I always propose difficult problems. And moreover, I don't make proposals. I invite you. I attract you. I accept you and I wish you all the best."

Gronchi: "I would like to present Premier Khrushchev with a good wish. Maybe some day, touched by divine grace, he will enter the Christian Democrat party."

Burke Calls For Polaris Missile Fleet

Rep. Cannon Backs Moves To Increase Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, in a bid to build a missile-firing submarine fleet as soon as possible, will ask for 975 million dollars to pay for six more of the craft than are currently planned.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, told this to a Senate hearing Monday, but he said he isn't sure the Defense Department will approve the proposal.

If the request is relayed to Congress and passed there, the Polaris submarine program would be shoved forward by more than a third. At present 15 of the nuclear-powered boats are on the way, in one stage or another.

Burke testified earlier that a fleet of 45 such subs, equipped with 16 missiles each to strike at targets in the Soviet Union from under the sea, would give the United States a big enough retaliatory force to keep the Soviets at bay.

Burke Evades Direct Answer

Questioned by Democratic senators, Burke said he probably would continue to support President Eisenhower's budget even if the President should turn down the Navy's appeal for a stepup in the Polaris program.

"If I didn't accept it, I wouldn't remain in my present position," the Navy chief said.

Sen. Howard Cannon (D-Nev.), pressed Burke for a yes or no answer as to whether the administration defense budget is "doing enough to protect the safety and security of this country at this time."

"I can't answer it yes or no," Burke said.

But a resounding "no" came from the other side of Capitol Hill where the chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee declared the United States has forfeited control over land, sea and air by spending too little for defense.

Rep. Cannon Arouses Republicans

Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), who usually holds tight to the government pursestring, appealed for an increase in President Eisenhower's 41-billion-dollar military budget.

And he threw his considerable influence behind moves to triple the money sought by Eisenhower to prepare for a constant airborne vigil by U.S. bombers.

"Every city in the United States is subject to direct attack and our enemy has the weapons to launch such an attack now," Cannon told the House.

"By 1963 he will be able to destroy every major city on the face of the earth."

Republicans sprang to their feet and accused Cannon of trying to "scare the American people to death."

Rep. John R. Rhodes (R-Ariz.), said statements like Cannon's hand Russia a potential psychological weapon and deepen the danger that the Communists might spark war by misjudging U.S. strength.

11¼-Ounce Baby Fails To Survive

The son of service station operator Morris Vermeulen and his 23-year-old wife died at 3:16 a.m. in Still Osteopathic Hospital after 27 hours and 54 minutes of life.

The baby, born three months prematurely, was one of the smallest on record ever to survive so long. But doctors had never given it much chance to live.

Deacon Admits Planting Bomb In Pastor's Auto

ATLANTA (AP) — A story of secret love-making with the minister's wife, some of it in the church annex, was unfolded Monday by a married deacon to explain why he planted a dynamite bomb in his pastor's car.

"She led me to believe that if her husband was out of the way, she would marry me," said William Columbus Johnson, a textile worker at nearby Milstead, in a confession released by detectives.

The 33-year-old father of a 13-year-old son told of a face-to-face showdown in a Sunday school room with the Rev. J. T. Robinson and his wife, both about 36.

Of pretty Velma Robinson, he said: "I just told the preacher that his wife just more or less threw herself at me."

The deacon said he had known Velma eight years and in the past five months they had met a dozen times or more for the purpose of making love. They were found out by her husband, the confession said, after a tryst in the church annex about Christmas time.

His story climaxed a week-long investigation into the planting of two dynamite sticks behind the driver's seat in the clergyman's station wagon. Only his reluctance to use his car's bright lights, to which the deadly bomb was wired, avoided a violent ending.

Robinson said he discovered the home-made bomb when he stopped for a milkshake after leaving a church meeting in Atlanta Tuesday night.

Board Names Juvenile Home Site Study Unit

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Board of Public Works voted Monday to appoint a committee to study sites for a juvenile detention home in the suburban Washington area.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Thomas J.S. Waxter, director of the Department of Public Welfare, who said it would be "the better part of valor" in view of opposition by residents of the Beltsville area.

Welfare officials have proposed building the southern regional detention center on a 14-acre site off Ammendale Road near Beltsville, where Waxter said it would be close to the population centers of Prince Georges and Montgomery counties.

The 40-bed center would be primary for Southern Maryland juveniles. It would house children ordered there for study by the courts, as well as juveniles being held pending trial.

Waxter said $455,000 already has been appropriated for the building and $35,000 for purchase of the site. A similar center, with a 56-bed capacity, is in operation at Catonsville in suburban Baltimore.

In other action, the board:

1. Endorsed Senate Bill No. 19, now before the Legislature, which would increase the interest rate ceiling on state bonds from 3½ to 4 per cent.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein expressed fear that such a move would encourage bond purchasers to raise the interest charge. The last bonds sold by the state, he said, carried a 3.29 rate.

Gov. Tawes contended, however, that the competitive bids are made according to the condition of the market and not on the ceiling. Treasurer Hooper S. Miles, the third member of the board, said the move was merely an extra precaution to insure that the state would be able to market its bonds in the future.

2. Authorized Robert B. Kimble, executive director of the Department of Employment Security, to prepare a legislative amendment authorizing the department to mail unemployment checks rather than have the recipients pick them up in person.

Kimble said 38 states now follow such a practice. The jobless still would have to report to the regional offices to file their weekly claims, he said.

3. Voted a $10,000 appropriation from emergency funds to cover a deficit operation at the State Tobacco Warehouse in Baltimore. Another $5,000 had been voted for the warehouse last November.

Burns Prove Fatal To Frederick Airman

SCULTHORPE, England (AP)—The U.S. Air Force announced Monday Airman 2C Larry F. Phebus, 23, of Frederick, Md., died Saturday in a Kings Lynn Hospital from accidental burns.

Phebus was lighting a fire in an open hearth at the home of a British girl friend when a tin of kerosene exploded. His clothing ablaze, he leaped out of a second story window.

In addition to third degree burns, he suffered severe cuts from the window glass.

Phebus' mother, Mrs. Ethel Phebus, lives on Route 3, Frederick, Md. He was attached to the 84th Bombardment Squadron at Sculthorpe. He came to England in 1957.

Eighth AEC "Hot Spot" Teams On 24-Hour Alert

NEW YORK (AP)—"Hot spot" teams are on 24-hour alert—eight squads ready to fly to any atomic accident spreading deadly radioactivity in the United States.

The Atomic Energy Commission created its special trouble crews about two years ago at eight key operations offices to answer atomic emergencies.

The physicists and engineers who make up the "hot spot" teams are regular AEC personnel. Each keeps a suitcase at home packed with atomic detection equipment. Field uniform is a steel helmet and white denim coveralls.

Federal aircraft and cars are available for their use if necessary.

But so far, at the New York office at least, the most serious crises have been staged for practice only.

The real calls have been a little less dramatic. Most were checked by telephone or AEC agents in the field.

There was the New York man who wasn't feeling well and thought that he glowed in the dark.

He was told to go to his local hospital and get a checkup.

A woman in Massachusetts found small metal boxes filled with a yellow powder and marked radioactive. AEC experts found that they came from a toy chemistry set, and contained only token and non-dangerous radioactivity.

These stories were told to newsmen Monday in a tour of the New York operations office and the health and safety laboratory of the AEC.

The other "hot spot" teams are located at Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Aiken, S. C.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Lemont, Ill.; Idaho Falls, Idaho; Oakland, Calif.; and Richland, Wash.

Powell Target Of Meany Blast

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Organized labor's top chief Monday characterized the prospective new chairman of the House Labor Committee, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), as a "terrible" choice for the job.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said Powell had a poor voting and attendance record in Congress and has "used his position to stir up racial hatred at the slightest provocation."

"I think it's terrible to have a man like that chairman of the labor committee," Meany said.

Powell, a Negro and pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York City's Harlem area, is in line on a seniority basis to move up next year as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee in Washington. That is, if the Democrats retain control of the House of Representatives.

The present chairman, Rep. Graham Barden (D-N.C.), is retiring from Congress this year.

There was no immediate comment from Powell on Meany's criticism, voiced after an opening session of the AFL-CIO's Executive Council.

Commuter Found Guilty Of Fraud In Welfare Aid

BALTIMORE (AP) — A woman convicted Monday of fraudulently receiving $10,900 in welfare aid testified she commuted from South Carolina to Baltimore to collect the checks.

Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast imposed a sentence of six years imprisonment on Mrs. Helen Hooper Mack, 36-year-old Negro mother of five children who is expecting a sixth in June.

Mrs. Mack told Judge Prendergast that on most of the trips she usually rode with a cousin who is in the printing business. Sometimes she spent $22 for a round-trip bus ticket from Georgetown, S.C., to Baltimore.

Mrs. Mack said she has been living with her mother in Georgetown for six or seven months. She said she went south originally because of illness in her family and because she expected to inherit some property.

The inheritance did not materialize, however.

Youth Gets 18 Years In Fatal Stab Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 19-year-old former soldier who fatally stabbed a Baltimore furniture salesman last June was sentenced to 18 years in prison Monday.

Circuit Judge Joseph R. Byrnes told James E. Virkus, of Granite Falls, Minn., that his case had been "beautifully handled" by the court-appointed attorney, William J. O'Donnell. But, he added, the case involved "a brutal stabbing" and it required the maximum punishment for second degree murder. A jury convicted Virkus Jan. 29.

Virkus maintained that the stabbing occurred when Philip D. Friedman, the victim, tried to force an indecent assault upon him. Friedman's body was found in some brush in south Baltimore.

State Highway Fatalities Soar To 59 For Year

By The Associated Press

Maryland's highway toll soared to 59 Monday with the deaths of a Westminster man in a two-car collision and a 2-year-old Waldorf boy in a Charles County accident.

At least 10 other fatalities were reported in the state over the weekend.

Edward Suthard, 44, of Route 2, Westminster, was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with another auto on U.S. 140 at Tannery Road on the edge of Westminster.

The driver of the car in which Suthard was a passenger, Laura S. Suthard, was taken to Baltimore's University Hospital where her condition was reported good.

The driver of the other car, 26-year-old Ralph B. Basler of Finksburg, was not hurt, State Police said.

In the Charles County accident, Richard Moreland, 2, of Waldorf was killed when a car in which he was riding ran off a highway at Malcolm and struck a tree.

Speedup In A-Powered Rocket Program Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A stepup in the program to produce a nuclear powered space rocket was demanded Monday by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM).

Anderson announced the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee heads will start closed hearings next Monday. He said top officials of the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Aeronautics and Space administration have been called to testify.

Budget cuts were blamed by Anderson for what he said is a prospect that the Rover nuclear rocket project may be "moving into a period of stretch-out, indecision and drift comparable to the aircraft nuclear propulsion projects."

Rover is the name given by the AEC to a research and development project that would employ nuclear rather than chemical elements to power ultra long range space rockets.

In the new budget now under consideration by Congress, a total of 39 million dollars is included for appropriations and authorization relating to Rover, about 25 per cent less than the AEC wanted.

Telephone diary shows phone calls saved $19.00 . . . 48 hours . . . 313 miles of traveling in two weeks

Lieutenant Veditz checks what's cooking for dinner as Mrs. Veditz takes a call on her kitchen phone. She also has a phone in her bedroom.

Mrs. Veditz of Salisbury, Maryland, is the busy wife of a Maryland State Police officer, mother of three youngsters, cub scout den mother, treasurer of her church group and active in the P.T.A.

Her telephone is almost as much a part of her active life as her family. The telephone diary she kept for two weeks proved the time, money and traveling a telephone can save.

Keeping the diary was fun. Looking through it later reminded her of the ease with which a telephone reaches others, the extra hours it gives a person for activities—and the money it saves.

If you think the experience of Mrs. Veditz and her family unusual, why don't you keep a telephone diary of your own? See if your phone doesn't pay for itself in convenience alone—and in money savings as well.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Telephone diary shows phone calls saved $19.00 . . . 48 hours . . . 313 miles of traveling in two weeks

Lieutenant Veditz checks what's cooking for dinner as Mrs. Veditz takes a call on her kitchen phone. She also has a phone in her bedroom.

Mrs. Veditz of Salisbury, Maryland, is the busy wife of a Maryland State Police officer, mother of three youngsters, cub scout den mother, treasurer of her church group and active in the P.T.A.

Her telephone is almost as much a part of her active life as her family. The telephone diary she kept for two weeks proved the time, money and traveling a telephone can save.

Keeping the diary was fun. Looking through it later reminded her of the ease with which a telephone reaches others, the extra hours it gives a person for activities—and the money it saves.

If you think the experience of Mrs. Veditz and her family unusual, why don't you keep a telephone diary of your own? See if your phone doesn't pay for itself in convenience alone—and in money savings as well.

LaVale Group Seeking Reservoir Repair Bids

The LaVale Sanitary Commission is seeking bids for the repair of a concrete reservoir in the Red Hill area which services the upper end of the community.

Harry Kauffman, chairman of the sanitary commission, said approximately 40 per cent of the residents of LaVale receive their water from the reservoir.

The necessity of repairing the concrete impoundment was brought to light last summer following an inspection of the facility by an engineering firm, whose spokesmen said there were several bad leaks.

Much water was being lost, Kauffman said, adding that for a period last year the water was so low that city water had to be pumped to the reservoir.

The repair work is not expected to take more than several weeks, and during the work city water and large storage tanks will be utilized so that water service to homes and businesses will be uninterrupted.

Bids will be accepted until 7 p. m. Thursday, February 25, when they will be opened and read at the LaVale Fire Hall. The specifications and other forms are available at the commission's office in LaVale.

The sanitary commission recently awarded a contract to the Hout Construction Company, low bidder on a proposal to relocate the water main and a sewer line in the lower end of LaVale. The winning bid was in the neighborhood of $43,000.

Kauffman said the Hout firm was authorized to hold up the work until word is received from the State Roads Commission that it is ready to proceed with an improvement project on U. S. Route 40.

The two projects will be tied in with each other so that inconvenience to residents can be kept to a minimum. It is expected that work will start as soon as weather permits.

If you're concerned about tuition costs and such—here's how investing may help

1. Chances are your paycheck alone won't buy all the things you want for your family. It will probably take money from other sources to help pay for some things—such as education, weddings, long vacations, and ultimately the comfortable retirement you want.

2. Wise investments in stocks and bonds may help you be a better provider. It is possible for investing to help in two ways—by giving you a "second income" from dividends or interest, and perhaps by building for you and your family a tidy little estate, one that's almost always quickly convertible to cash.

3. More than 12 million Americans who own stock have a chance to share in the nation's growing economy. If the American economy grows, so will much of the industry and business that make up the economy. Why not consider the opportunity to share in that growth? You can, you know, for as little as $40 every three months through a convenient Monthly Investment Plan.

4. Wise investors get information and advice from Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange. With more than 2,600 offices throughout the country, Member Firms make it a business to help the new investor and old alike get facts about companies before they invest in them.

5. Here's how you can start: Plan your budget so you won't be investing money that should go for regular living expenses, and leave a reserve for emergencies. Remember that security prices go down as well as up and sometimes a company may not pay dividends or interest.

Send the coupon below for the booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It lists over 400 stocks that have paid dividends every year from 25 to 112 years.

Street Plan Ordinances Readied Here

Introductory ordinances on the city's street resurfacing program will be offered to the Mayor and Council Monday, February 29, Street Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday.

Long who was acting mayor in the absence of Mayor J. Edwin Keech at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council, said that under the city's home rule law, persons who would oppose the resurfacing program by petition have until February 23 to do so. If 20 per cent of the qualified voters sign a petition, the matter goes to referendum.

Barring that, Long said final ordinances will be introduced on March 14. It is also hoped to open bids on the 11 projects that day, he said.

In other action yesterday, council considered several bids.

Three bids were referred to Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum for Lots 620 and 622 on North Mechanic Street. Bidding are Joseph Robinette, $725; Sylvia Marie Roeder, $730; and Charles Paul Roeder, $630.

Cumberland Office Supply Company submitted the only bid of $1,165 on a ledger file which was referred to Commissioner G. Ray Light of the Water Department.

Cosgrove Cycle Company submitted two bids on truckster vehicles for the Police Department which were referred to Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

The bid by $1,646.10 by Gurley's, Inc., for a one-ton pickup truck for the Water Department was accepted.

City To Cooperate In Proposed Zoning Plan

The Mayor and Council yesterday voted to inform the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that the city is interested in the proposed planning and zoning program and will cooperate in the orderly planning and development of the program.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, city finance commissioner, and John J. Long, street commissioner and acting mayor in the absence of Mayor J. Edwin Keech, reported on their attendance at a meeting last Tuesday of the heads of the various communities in the county with the county commissioners to discuss the program.

Mrs. Roeder said the city and county could work together to develop the plan. Commissioner Long said the meeting on planning and zoning indicated a cooperative attitude of both the city and county officials. He remarked this condition is certainly a good thing for the area.

Interest in the planning and zoning system is high among heads of various communities and the county commissioners feel that something should be done in order to eliminate many of the problems which have arisen over the years due to a lack of a cohesive program.

Sewage, roads, water supply and similar items would be effected by a planning and zoning plan on a county-wide basis.

Three Youths Face Hearing

An 18-year-old Mt. Savage youth and two minors from the same community will be given hearings today in Juvenile Court in connection with the breaking and entering and ransacking of a home in Mt. Savage on February 2.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, said the sheriff's office took into custody the youths and two of them admitted their part in the incident.

Richard Ronald Lantz, 18, will be tried on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of the two boys, one 14 and the other 15.

The trio was taken into custody after an investigation showed they were absent from school on the day of the breaking and entering.

The residence which was broken into is that of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Furlow. The couple was not at home at the time. The youths ransacked the home and took a quantity of cider and wine.

Driver Is Held In Man's Death

Donald W. Piurko, 23, Detroit, was charged with manslaughter by motor vehicle yesterday following a coroner's inquest in Romney.

A. L. Russell, Hampshire County coroner, said the young Detroit man is being charged in connection with the death of John Dewey Shingleton, 61, Romney, who was killed Saturday night when struck by a truck being operated by Piurko.

Russell said the accident occurred along West Virginia Route 28 on North High Street in Romney as the victim was starting to cross the highway.

The coroner's jury yesterday ordered Piurki held under $2,500 bond for action of the next term of Hampshire County Circuit Court. He was lodged in the Hampshire County Jail in default of the bond.

Blocked Railroad Crossing Draws Ire Of Local Man

A resident who said he had been a voter "for 60 years" and "would like to have his say sometime" appeared before the Mayor and Council yesterday to point up a situation caused by B&O Railroad trains blocking downtown crossings.

J. W. Miller, who gave his address as Central YMCA, said in the past two weeks crossings have been blocked for as much as 35 to 40 minutes at one time and urged that the city issue a warrant and levy a fine against the railroad "to end this for all time."

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said he had had several complaints in the past two weeks. He recalled that conferences had been held with railroad officials on two previous occasions.

He said the railroad has its problems and the city has its problems but expresed the hope that the new B&O marshalling yards will solve the situation. He said he and Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney will meet to decide what action, if any, will be taken.

On another local traffic problem, Fleming and Gaffney answered queries about the new lane-system at the Baltimore-Mechanic Streets intersection. Some residents had expressed the belief that the system should be reversed.

But yesterday, Fleming said the right-hand lane had been made for right-turn only because of the Western Maryland Railway trains which sometimes block traffic movement.

By making the left lane for left turn and through traffic, Fleming said through traffic on Mechanic can be kept moving. Otherwise, he added, both the right turn and through traffic would be blocked.

If drivers follow the directions on signs which have been installed for both lanes, traffic should move more easily, the two police officials said.

Fleming also released figures given him by Gaffney on a traffic count conducted on South Centre Street in the continuing effort by the department to get information and a possible solution to local vehicle movement bottlenecks.

The traffic counter was placed at three locations. According to the report, these are the final figures.

Location, 305 South Centre Street, (southbound): 6,457 cars or an average of 922.4 cars for seven, 24 hour days.

Location, 205 South Centre (northbound), 38,205 or an average of 5,458 daily.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I'm 49 years old and feel like 100. About five years ago I became friendly with a married man — as a matter of fact he was my milkman. I was married at the time but my husband was a poor lover. Of course he knew nothing of my romance.

Seven months ago my husband passed away. I know I should stop seeing this married man but I'm so lonesome I just can't make the break. The other day he took out his billfold and when I saw the picture of his wife and four beautiful children I felt like two cents. What is a lonesome widow to do?—ALONE

DEAR ALONE: You can put that show on the road. If this affair has been going on five years you were whooping it up long before you were a lonesome widow. Remember?

Tomorrow morning mark your milk card "NOTHING, THANK YOU." And change dairies.

DEAR ANN: The house we live in is part of a run-down estate which my husband inherited. We share a home with his brother and family. On the adjoining lot is his sister and her family. On the other side is an unmarried sister-in-law who lives with her mother.

The brother-in-law who shares our home is a heavy drinker — or I should say, a drunk. He's home a great deal and fights with the children as if he were a child himself.

My sister-in-law makes frequent trips out of town and leaves her three kids with me. My kids don't get along with hers.

My mother-in-law follows me around the house constantly when I try to clean and her yammering drives me nuts. When I see her coming I actually become dizzy and nauseated.

I've begged my husband to find another place but he says we'd be crazy to move as we live very inexpensively.

I feel myself cracking up. Please help me.—SINKING FAST

DEAR SINKING: Your husband has found the most expensive way of saving money known to mankind. Tell him your sanity is at stake and he MUST rent you a place away from the relative settlement. In the long run it will be infinitely cheaper than institutional care for you and a housekeeper for your children.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl who is nine years old. I used to be in love with the boy next door. Our mothers used to take walks together and push us in our baby carriages. This is how we met. Then we moved away from that city. I was five years old. He didn't write to me but I can't blame him because he was only five himself and couldn't write.

This year I got a Christmas card from him but it was not the kind most people get. It was a card that somebody had sent to his parents. He crossed out the sender's name and signed his own. On the bottom he wrote "Please write."

Do you think that I should write to him even if he was too cheap to buy me a card himself?—DEBORAH

DEAR DEBORAH: The thought is what counts, and he DID think about you. Write to him anyway.

Service Men Are Promoted In Potomac Edison System

Homer L. Michael, Westernport, has been named service manager for the Keyser-Piedmont area of the Potomac Light and Power Company, according to T. Warner Lowry, manager of the Keyser district.

Michael succeeds L. Arden Kolkhorst, who has been promoted to service specialist for the Potomac Edison System, with headquarters at PE's general offices in Hagerstown.

Michael has spent his entire period of service in the Keyser area. He first joined the power company there in 1945, following a two-year tour of duty with the Navy. On September 1, 1946 he was promoted to serviceman, in which capacity he served until his new assignment this month.

In his new post, Michael will be in charge of all service department activities in the Keyser, Piedmont areas.

As service specialist for Potomac Edison, Kolkhorst will assist in the overall administration of that department, with particular emphasis on the expanding promotional and specialized activities within the service department.

His experience with the utility company has all been in the Keyser area, where he was first employed as a serviceman in 1946, following a tour of duty with the Army. In May 1952, he was promoted to service manager at Keyser.

Kolkhorst, his wife, Winifred, and son, Kenneth, will take up residence in Hagerstown in the near future.

Youth Is Charged In Theft Case

One of the six teen-agers arrested Saturday night by City Police was charged with being a juvenile delinquent yesterday.

The gang was taken into custody after a local market complained that the youths were stealing food items.

Magistrate Louis Fatkin then found the youth guilty and deferred sentence until May 9. The youth made restitution in the amount of 82 cents.

Authorities said the other five youths were not charged.

Blocked Railroad Crossing Draws Ire Of Local Man

A resident who said he had been a voter "for 60 years" and "would like to have his say sometime" appeared before the Mayor and Council yesterday to point up a situation caused by B&O Railroad trains blocking downtown crossings.

J. W. Miller, who gave his address as Central YMCA, said in the past two weeks crossings have been blocked for as much as 35 to 40 minutes at one time and urged that the city issue a warrant and levy a fine against the railroad "to end this for all time."

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said he had had several complaints in the past two weeks. He recalled that conferences had been held with railroad officials on two previous occasions.

He said the railroad has its problems and the city has its problems but expresed the hope that the new B&O marshalling yards will solve the situation. He said he and Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney will meet to decide what action, if any, will be taken.

On another local traffic problem, Fleming and Gaffney answered queries about the new lane-system at the Baltimore-Mechanic Streets intersection. Some residents had expressed the belief that the system should be reversed.

But yesterday, Fleming said the right-hand lane had been made for right-turn only because of the Western Maryland Railway trains which sometimes block traffic movement.

By making the left lane for left turn and through traffic, Fleming said through traffic on Mechanic can be kept moving. Otherwise, he added, both the right turn and through traffic would be blocked.

If drivers follow the directions on signs which have been installed for both lanes, traffic should move more easily, the two police officials said.

Fleming also released figures given him by Gaffney on a traffic count conducted on South Centre Street in the continuing effort by the department to get information and a possible solution to local vehicle movement bottlenecks.

The traffic counter was placed at three locations. According to the report, these are the final figures.

Location, 305 South Centre Street, (southbound): 6,457 cars or an average of 922.4 cars for seven, 24 hour days.

Location, 205 South Centre (northbound), 38,205 or an average of 5,458 daily.

Flames Gut Home Near Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin gutted the house of Wilmer Whetzel Monday before volunteer firemen from Moorefield and Petersburg in neighboring Grant County could get to the scene.

Moorefield fire fighters traveled 18 miles on a trip that ordinarily would be only four miles to the Whetzel property. A bridge is out over the South Branch River between Fisher and Moorefield.

Petersburg firemen now have less distance to travel to the Kessell - Fisher secondary road in Hardy County.

No one was in the house when the fire occurred. It was discovered by a passerby at about 5 a.m. Monday. The family occupying the cinder-block dwelling had left the area to seek work, it was reported.

The human body has some 255 muscles.

State Employes Pay Raise Hearing Is Called Off

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Legislature Monday night cancelled a hearing scheduled Tuesday on the question of a pay raise for state employes.

"Two lengthy, man killing hearings" would be too much, Majority Leader Boone (D-Balto County) announced in explanation to the House of Delegates.

Boone noted that the Finance Committee of the two houses had scheduled a hearing Tuesday morning on proposals to raise the pay of school teachers, then go into regular session and air the employes' demands afterwards.

He promised the employes will be given an early hearing on their requests.

The teachers' hearing is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. and Boone announced a 1 p.m. deadline for its conclusion. "Three hours certainly ought to be enough time," he said.

received about the administration of the Health Department had come from outside the department rather than from employes.

Rotating Nurses

The reason for rotating nurses to various jobs is that they are able to fill all of them in an emergency, one spokesman said. That way, young nurses have the opportunity to get broad clinic experience which otherwise would not be available.

Another point was that no school immunization clinics have been conducted in Allegany County in the past two years. This was explained as a part of new state policy. The 14 nurses in the department conduct about 43 clinics around the county each month.

The commissioners said they had been informed that about 85 per cent of the children entering the first grade in this county each year have received their polio immunization shots. They expressed a belief that the county should see that the other 15 per cent are immunized after entering school despite the fact that the ideal age for immunization is between one and four years.

A list of eight typewritten suggestions for Health Department improvements was submitted as the recommendations of groups interested in the department's program. These included better administration, learning how to get along with people, less "talk," getting along with outside organizations, less dogmatism, elimination of intra-office rivalry, better understanding with Board of Education, and boosting Health Department prestige.

loans would be increased from $300 to $800. The new interest rates would be 3 per cent on the first $300, 1 per cent on the second $300, and 1 per cent on another $200. The present rate is 3 per cent on each $300.

Legislation introduced in the Senate included a proposal by Sen. Edward Hall (R-Calvert) to abolish the review boards which help settle disputes over the value of land condemned by the State Roads Commission.

Sen. William S. James (D-Harford) proposed a measure to set up a two-million-dollar bond issue to help county or local governments build public junior colleges.

A bill by Sen. Aaron Baer (D-Balto 4th) would require doctors to report the names of patients who are habitual users of narcotics. The report would go to the Health Department, which would make it available to the Department of Motor Vehicles as a safeguard against licensing addicts to drive automobiles.

Civil Service Unit Advocates Job Survey

A recommendation for a classification and salary survey of all county employes by a professional organization was submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners last night by the County Civil Service Commission.

This recommendation, signed yesterday by William L. Wilson, Woodward D. Pealer and W. Eric Gibbs, suggested that a professional organization qualified in management problems make the survey. They said they would be happy to meet with the county commissioners to discuss the problem and give them the benefit of the Civil Service Commission's experience.

A second unanimous recommendation to the county commissioners is that the employes of the county tax collector's office other than the collector himself should be placed under the County Classified Service. Section 63A (b) specifically exempts the collector from the classified service.

cylindrical in shape. It will be 58 inches in diameter, with an overall height of 17 feet and a weight of 50 tons. The walls, approximately five inches thick, will be constructed of carbon steel with a stainless steel lining.

Inside this unit uranium oxide will be "fissioned." Heat given off in the process will be used to generate steam to operate a turbine in Pennsylvania Electric Company's nearby generating station.

The unit will perform the same function as a coal-burning boiler in a conventional power station—supply energy to turn a turbine generator.

Mr. Rees said the primary purpose of the project is to find ways in which useful heat can be obtained from "burning" nuclear fuel, and ways in which the heat produced can be used more efficiently in producing electric power.

Is Research Unit

It is not anticipated that the reactor will be an economic producer of electric power, the corporation manager said. "Rather, it is being built for research and development purposes, looking forward to the day when fossil fuels will be inadequate to supply the demands for electricity."

Pennsylvania State University will participate in the research program which is being financed by Pennsylvania Electric and other companies affiliated with General Public Utilities.

Paul G. Davis of Gilbert Associates, Inc., which is responsible for non-nuclear design and construction supervision, will be construction manager.

The general contract is held by Westinghouse Electric Corp., which designed the reactor and will supply the nuclear material and be responsible for operations.

The Cumberland Iron Workers local has jurisdiction in Bedford County and is expected to provide labor for al iron work on the big project.

Fike Held For Jury

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A 41-year-old Cumberland, Md., man was held Monday night for grand jury action on burglary charges.

Delon Fike is accused of burglarizing three York area establishments with his brother, Clyde Fike, 39, also of Cumberland.

Clyde waived a hearing Jan. 23, two days after he and Delon were arrested here. He is free in $2,000 bond.

Alderman Russell Newman, following Monday night's brief session, ordered Delon returned to the York County Jail. Bail has been denied him because there is a detainer for his return to Ohio to face a parole violation charge.

City police charged the Fikes with burglarizing three places, including a laundromat and a combination delicatessen - confectionary.

LaVale Area Fire Is False Alarm

A fire reported in the vicinity of Vocke Road and Braddock Road late yesterday afternoon turned out to be a false alarm.

Volunteer firemen from LaVale said it was a supervised fire and the pumper did not leave the station for the call, about 5:25 p.m.

Sofa Damaged In Fire

Two sections of a sofa were damaged last night in a fire at 807 Maryland Avenue. Firemen from South End Station received a call at 7:46 p. m. Cause of the fire was unknown, firemen said.

Judge To Pass Sentence On Men At Keyser

Two men who were found guilty of breaking and entering Weese's Appliance Store in Keyser last November will be sentenced this morning in Mineral County Circuit by Judge Ernest See.

Yesterday afternoon William Mahoney of Beryl was found guilty by a petit jury which deliberated for about an hour after hearing testimony in the case which opened in court on Friday and was recessed until yesterday morning.

On Friday, his companion, Stanley Bonney, of Keyser, was found guilty by the same jury, and sentencing was withheld by Judge See.

Among those testifying in both trials were local police officers who arrested the two men here after being notified by West Virginia authorities to be on the lookout for them.

In another case expected to begin today in Mineral County Circuit Court, Melvin L. Biggs of Ridgeley will be tried on a charge of breaking and entering Boggs Supply Company on December 12 last year.

State Police said they caught the man in the office of the supply company. Some money, they said had been taken from a cash register in the office.

Breeding Circuit Shows Increase

The Allegany County Artificial Breeding Circuit for the month of December had a healthy gain in business with a 16.3 per cent increase over the same period a year before with 157 first services having been performed by Henry E. Miller.

The ten top dairymen who helped make the increase possible were Charles Deremer and E. Finley Orndorff, nine each; Wilbur L. Collins, eight; A. S. A. Holsinger and Shumaker Brothers, seven each; James E. Miltenberger and Charles C. Steele, six each; John T. Mason, William L. Shoemaker, Fred C. Siple and Ray Umstot, five each.

For the State of Maryland, 7,174 original services were performed by the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative Inc. showing a 11.5 per cent increase over a year ago. The top counties in making this gain possible were Frederick County, 1,614 original services; Harford County, 813, and Washington County, 808.

The following dairymen in Maryland contributed to the large number of cows that were bred and helped to make this outstanding gain possible:

A. S. Price, 34; Nor - Bern Farms, 23; Sundown Farms, 22; M. L. Dade and Jackson R. Collins, 21 each; Granville Watkins, 20; Earl Remsburg and P. A. Carroll, 19 each, and Clyde Foster, Thomas Drechsler, Drew Pearson and J. C. Moore, 18 each.

Industries Spurn Space Contracts

Patents, and the government's refusal to permit industrial suppliers to retain rights of ownership over products developed privately, may be seriously delaying progress of America's space program.

U. S. industries, which are asked to contract for highly technical work on projects under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, must forfeit patent rights to applications and product designs which may be the results of years of extensive research. This has come to public attention through the introduction in Congress of proposed legislation to correct the situation.

It is understandable that many American suppliers of scientific and industrial know-how have refused contracts on NASA projects, and some have adopted a total ban on any work for the space agency. This is not dictated by spite. American industry simply cannot afford to donate the services of highly paid personnel and the use of expensive equipment — not to mention the years of experience and accumulated data which went into the background of the project — to a device which then becomes the property of and is patented by the government.

Military contracts have traditionally recognized the right of patent on the part of contractors, with the proviso that royalty-free licenses be granted to the government. Chairman Overton Brooks of the House Space Committee has prepared legislation to correct the abuse of industrial patents. It is in reality the government, not industry, which suffers most from this attempt to monopolize the labors and investment of private industry.

The Armed Forces

Just plain citizens are not experts about strategic airplanes, rockets, missiles, A-bombs and H-bombs and all that sort of thing. When they read big headlines announcing that respected generals disagree with the program of President Eisenhower and that the President calls the generals parochial, the citizen wonders whether anybody knows what he is talking about. The citizen becomes worried about his own future. He wonders whether this is campaign-year politics or whether his country is really falling behind Soviet Russia.

Then when responsible Senators such as Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington say that the Russians have a three to one lead on us, the public knowing what it costs the American taxpayer every year to keep up the national defense, becomes anxious not only about our civilization and our country but about our sons. What are those responsible doing about our defenses?

President Eisenhower is a professional military man who is highly respected not only for his success as a soldier but for his personality and his character. One is not likely to believe that the President would deliberately not tell the truth or that he would imperil his country. On the other hand, it is also not likely that responsible generals would lie about the armed services or imperil the defense of our country. Senator Lyndon Johnson has shown, over the years, that he is capable of putting country above party and although he is a candidate for the Presidency, he would not endanger his country in pursuit of opportunity.

This then presents a very confused picture to the layman, because it is not just a difference of opinion among honest men. It is a difference of judgment based on knowledge, upon a complete possession of all the facts. If all these men, from the President down, who are providing data and judgment on the national defense present so confusing a picture, what is the citizen to believe? Whom is the citizen to believe? We are not facing a prize-fight to decide on a favorite; we are facing the future of our country.

This is very important as a military fact. Clausewitz, the world's classical authority on war, pays great attention to the will to victory, the will of a whole people not to be defeated. The Russians have done a double job, not only of what we call propaganda, but of achievement, which is having a notable effect everywhere:

1. They have created doubt, uncertainty and even fear in the United States and among the Western nations. Sputnik had nothing to do with the International Geophysical Year. Sputnik told the military men of the world that the Russians could land a missile anywhere; Sputnik told the American people that the Russians were ahead of us. Subsequent to Sputnik, the Russians have continued to devote themselves to breaking the morale of the American people with a frequency of events not presently calculable in their results;

2. At the same time, the Kremlin by these identical events and activities has established a confidence among the Russians and the various peoples of the Soviet Universal State in the inevitability of Russian victory. The word, inevitability, has taken on the force of religious power, producing an assurance as strong as religious faith. It stresses for the individual Russian the doctrine that the Marxist dogma and the Soviet method cannot fail.

This, then, is the current situation. Instead of our government devising a policy based on military and moral essentials, we are still quarrelling about what we should do and why we should do it, and we are wasting unbelieveable quantities of money, manpower and materials in the process. Our failures have been colossal and our duplications of effort have been inexcusable. Now the generals confirm what the citizens have long wondered about: we have lost time, effort and money. And the question is: Why?

There is no reason for the current Senate hearings to be held in executive session. The Russians obviously know of our defects and have already adjusted their own sights to them. Only the American people do not know why there is so much confusion and they are deeply hurt by the curious conduct of those to whom they entrust their defense and the future of their country. This ought not to become a campaign issue. It ought to be considered without partisanship.

Ike Blew Up When CIA Chief Dulles Spoiled His Rosy Defense Picture

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — What many Senators didn't know about Allen Dulles's closed-door missile testimony was that the chief of Central Intelligence had privately requested the opportunity to appear before the Senate Preparedness Committee. Dulles was so alarmed at the tranquilizing testimony of Secretary of Defense Gates who said there was no real need to worry about Russian missiles that he immediately asked to be heard.

What he told the Senators was anything but tranquilizng.

President Eisenhower, hearing about this, promptly sent for Dulles's testimony. As he read it, the blood rose on the back of his neck. Intimates described his reaction as the biggest explosion since nuclear tests were suspended. If Dulles hadn't been the brother of the late Secretary of State and a public servant who served under both Democrats and Republicans he might have been fired.

For he gave the Senators bleak intelligence figures which not only completely refuted Secretary Gates, but also the rosy reassurances which Ike himself has been giving the public.

The Chilling Facts

By midyear 1960 the Russians should have between 40 and 45 intercontinental missiles ready to fire. The United States will have 20 operational Atlas missiles. And as the Russians already know, these will be sticking up like sore thumbs at Vandenberg Air Force Base where they could all be destroyed by one bomb.

By mid-1961, Russia should have between 200 and 300 combat-ready ICBMs. The United States will have only 50 Atlas and 10 Titan missiles.

By mid-1962, Dulles expects the Russians to have between 500 and 800 missiles capable of reaching any American target.

Dulles added that Soviet missiles appear to be even more accurate and reliable than our own. Of 25 intercontinental missiles tested in the past 10 months, Central Intelligence detected only one failure

Dulles's figures support Gen. Tom Power's warning that Russia will have enough intercontinental missiles by 1962 to wipe out our own retaliatory force. Despite this matehematical edge, the National Security Council has concluded that it would still be too risky for Russia to count upon a missile broadside's destroying America's power to strike back. This is what Secretary of Defense Gates meant when he said his optimistic outlook is based upon Russian "intent."

Only bright spot in Dulles's secret testimony was his report that the United States should start catching up with Russia in missile power when our Minuteman missiles start coming off the production line in 1963. The National Intelligence Estimate indicates the United States finally should surpass Russia in missile strength by late 1964. But this assumes that Moscow will be content to continue its present schedule.

Note — Vice President Nixon, alarmed over the effect a missile lag may have on his election chances, has been studying the secret testimony and conferring with Republican members of the Senate and House Armed Services Committee.

Everybody Blames Reuther

A hundred students demonstrating in front of the White House were carrying signs with such legends as, "We're for peace—is Walter?"

"Whatever it is," replied the other, "he's had it coming to him."

They went on their way—not knowing that the pickets were really denouncing Rep. Francis Walter, head of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Absent Elder Statesman

One of the ironies of last week's voting on the aid-to-education bill was that one of its authors, Sen. Jim Murray of Montana, wasn't around to vote for the bill which he has pushed for some years. The 84-year-old Democrat was resting in Puerto Rico. If he had been present the tie vote on the crucial Clark amendment, which was in essence the Murray-Metcalf bill, would have been broken.

This brings up a problem which confronts many elder Senators with great careers. They aren't willing to step aside in favor of younger men. Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island is an exception. Last year he stepped down as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in favor of young Bill Fulbright of Arkansas. And this year Green has announced his final retirement from politics.

Jim Murray has had an equally great career. He is one of the earliest New Deal Senators, having been elected one year after Roosevelt entered the White House, replacing prosecutor-Senator Tom Walsh, who unearthed the scandal of Teapot Dome.

Of late, Murray has not been in good health, is increasingly absent from the Senate. He comes up for re-election this year, but hasn't let it be known definitely whether he will step aside in favor of a younger man. This makes it difficult for his friend and co-author of the education bill, Congressman Lee Metcalf, to enter the race for Senator.

Not so considerate is Congressman LeRoy Anderson, also a Democrat, who has announced for Murray's place. A retired major general, Anderson has incurred the ire of Montana farmers by applying for and getting a grand total of $216,730 from the Agriculture Department for three years of soil bank and crop support participation.

Selfish Ambition And The National Security

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Another general speaks up in dissent. He is a former member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Since he now is retired, he can talk freely. He has long held the view that there is a nuclear stalemate in the world and that the next war will be fought on the ground. So he wants to see more money spent for mobile ground forces.

These views expressed by General Maxwell D. Taylor, until recently head of the U. S. Army, serve to emphasize the kind of problem that nowadays faces the President of the United States as the commander-in-chief of our armed forces.

General Taylor, like General Power of the Strategic Air Command of the U. S. Air Force, is sincerely dedicated to the defense of the United States. The ideas and advice of both generals have previously been laid before the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Secretary of Defense and the President. So they are not new. But what is new is the prodding of such generals by Democratic leaders in Congress who seek to publicize an impression that the defense of the United States is imperiled, even if it means telling the enemy more details of our defense preparations.

One would think that in a matter of such vital concern to the nation the orderly way would be for the committees to receive testimony in private, and for committee chairmen thereafter to express themselves to the Secretary of Defense or to lay their views in confidence before the President. But the trouble with that procedure is that it would not get the headlines so necessary to assist the Democrats in their efforts to discredit the Administration.

What General Taylor says about the need for ground forces, on the theory that nuclear war will never be fought, is, of course, realistic. It is something the highest military advisers of the President took into account a few years ago when they favored the "new look." A decision had to be made as to how the available funds would be spent. The policy finally laid down by the President called for a massive retaliatory power, with manned bombers, missiles and nuclear weapons of all kinds, to deter any aggression by a potential enemy.

General Taylor, however, feels that the real danger lies in a possible encroachment by the enemy on our allies by land operations. This is what is called "limited war." It can be readily concerned that such a contingency might arise. The natural conclusion is that perhaps preparations should be made for both "limited war" and "unlimited nuclear war." But this would add at least $14 billion a year to our $41-billion budget for defense.

When a man who has been Chief of Staff of the Army makes a declaration to Congress that our defense set-up is "inadequate," It naturally gives the members something to utilize in their assault on the Administration's policies. This has always been a tough problem for democratic government. Thus, today in the midst of a "cold war," when delicate diplomatic situations are being created by the summit conferences and the exchanges of visits by heads of state, it is not desirable for the President of the United States to engage in a public debate about what a potential enemy might do. If he feels that tensions have been relaxed for a while and that an airborne alert, for instance, isn't needed 24 hours a day every day in the week, he may be taking what is called a "calculated risk." But that's his responsibility. The generals, on the other hand, have no diplomatic duties or over-all responsibility for the economic welfare of the nation. They are concerned only with the tools they think they need to carry out every possible task in war.

So the debate continues about alleged weaknesses and inadequacies, and the importance of each category of weapons in every kind of military strategy. The President of the United States gives reassuring statements constantly, in the judgment of the highest military officers on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, America is safe and has sufficient deterrent to prevent an enemy from attacking us. But all this is brushed aside while the criticism is aired.

Maybe Democracy will someday learn how to function without allowing controversial questions of defense policy to be dragged into politics. Maybe Congress will someday take testimony in private and then consult with the officials of the Executive Branch. Maybe the Chief Executive, who gets intelligence reports about what the enemy is planning and doing, will be able to share them with the leaders in Congress. For in time of national emergency, like that involved in a "cold war," such delicate questions can be handled effectively in the public interest only in the privacy of government councils, as is customary in wartime. But an orderly procedure of this kind in "peacetime" apparently can come only when selfish ambition no longer rules the day.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EAVESDROPPING — It is estimated that there are more than 1,000 tiny, sensitive recording devices in use in Washington, mostly by the federal government. Their uses are varied, and almost all are legitimate, but some undoubtedly come into play in the fine game of espionage.

Some are known to be in the possession of the FBI, the Central Intelligence Agency, and the intelligence branches of the armed services.

The little devices have microphones concealed in tie clasps, wrist watches, brooches and metal initials on handbags. They are being investigated by a Senate constitutional rights subcommittee, to see if the government isn't sometimes straying off the reservation.

Most unusual use for the devices so far is at an Army ordnance laboratory. A recorder no bigger than a man's hand is being used at the laboratory on bomb disposal research, but the details are secret.

Another recorder is being taken apart and studied to see if any of its miniature parts can help in miniaturization work needed for missiles. The recorders are made in Germany.

Letter From SEC

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—In the Senate investigations that brought about the Securities and Exchange Commission, witnesses from the field of finance learned one lesson:

Don't write letters and memoranda.

The SEC commissioners and staff apparently never learned that lesson, along with quite a few others—for which as a column writer in need of an idea we are thankful.

To wit, Philip A. Loomis Jr., director of the Division of Trading and Exchanges in the SEC's Washington headquarters.

Mr. Loomis has just written a longer than two-page letter to a reader of this column who had sent him an article headed—"Stock Gyps 'Take' Public While SEC Takes A Bow."

Mr. Loomis wrote the reader—a lady—

"This is in reply to your note of January 12, enclosing a copy of Leslie Gould's article in the New York Journal American of January 11 and, very reasonably, inquiring 'What about this?'

"Mr. Gould is, of course, entitled to his own opinion as to the effectiveness of the Commission's work, but there are some statements I would like to comment on."

To take up one of Mr. Loomis' comments.

"Conditions in the financial markets are very different than they were in 1929.

"This, in a large measure, is due to compliance by the legitimate securities industry with the reforms established by the federal securities laws."

Mr. Loomis in the next breath—or rather sentence—says:

"The operation of 'boiler shops' is illegal and so are the manipulations and 'pool operations'."

Then he admits—and we hope ruefully—

"Such activities, unfortunately do occur to some extent, since no law enforcement agency can wholly stamp out crime and it takes time to develop a case and bring it on for trial."

"I would not say, however, that 'boiler shops' are 'flourishing'."

To turn about Mr. Loomis' phrase, he, "of course, is entitled to his own opinion."

The facts are that "boiler shops" are flourishing and have continued, even though four years ago this column wrote a series of 12 articles exposing the operation, including the peddling of a couple of Stock Exchange listed stocks. One of the exposures was in a stock operation for which Alexander Guterma and Lowell Birrell, the fugitive "financier" only recently were indicted. So, we will agree with Mr. Loomis "it do take time."

The trouble is that when the SEC seems to act, the damage has been done. Investors have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars. Interesting, most of today's "boiler shop" operations were in business four years ago.

The actual loss on "boiler shop" high pressure telephone selling of cheap and questionable stocks—all cleared up by the SEC for public sale—runs into the millions.

If Mr. Loomis doesn't think "pool" operations and manipulations are being carried on today, somebody at the SEC must be taking tranquilizers.

Some Social And Medical Aspects Of Yawning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deller.

When a person is happy he is likely to laugh; in contrast, weeping expresses sorrow. Yawning is a comparable gesture, indicating boredom or lack of interest. But yawning is involved in more processes than personality and social meaning because it occurs when the individual is drowsy or weary.

Infants and animals yawn. Jacques Barbizet believes certain movements of the beak of a bird, accompanied by flapping of wings, belong in this category.

Did you ever analyze a yawn? It begins by opening the mouth slowly and taking a deep breath. The tongue is pulled backward and downward, the tip moving well away from the teeth. The throat increases fourfold in size.

The second stage starts at the height of inspiration when the mouth is fully opened. At this point the eyelids close, the nostrils dilate, the nose wrinkles, and the eyebrows go up. The facial expression changes and the limbs are stretched. The last phase consists of passive expiration. It is slow and noisy and often is followed by "ah." The time for the maneuver varies from 4 to 7 seconds.

The polite person attempts to stifle the yawn by placing the hand over the mouth, modulating breathing, or attempting to keep the lips together. But despite these efforts it usually is betrayed by such gestures.

Yawning occurs during pregnancy and is a symptom of several diseases, including anemia and circulatory disorders of the brain. It is noted occasionally in victims of brain tumor, stroke, encephalitis (sleeping sickness), chorea, and certain varieties of epilepsy.

It has been said that one yawn brings seven. This refers to the infectious nature of gaping, which is difficult to explain except on a psychological basis. Readers of this article may yawn because of disinterest but suggestion or weariness may be the precipitating cause.

TOMORROW: Silent stones may become vocal.

GUM SWALLOWING

L. R. writes: My sister's children, aged 2 to 8, go to bed with a wad of two or three sticks of gum in their mouths and swallow it during sleep. What effect does this have on the stomach?

REPLY

None, but I recommend that they park their gum before going to bed. It might get into the windpipe and smother the youngster.

DISTRESS FROM PILLOW

S. H. writes: Can you explain this? When I sleep on a pillow I awaken with running eyes and nose. When I don't use a pillow, I don't get up with these symptoms.

REPLY

You must be allergic to the feathers in the pillow. Continue to sleep without a pillow or try a foam rubber pillow or plastic protective case.

GRAYING AT 11

L. S. writes: My 11 year-old son is a poor eater. Could this account for strands of gray hair that are beginning to appear?

REPLY

No — not even if you nagged him constantly to eat more. Strands of gray hair can be found in almost everyone if you look hard enough.

SPASTIC COLON

C. M. writes: How does bowel spasm act?

REPLY

Abdominal pain develops because of cramping or spasm of the intestine. Nervousness is the most common cause and the condition is most prevalent during periods of stress and strain.

CHAMELEON

Mrs. L. F. writes: When my son eats spinach his skin turns green and when he eats carrots it turns orange. Does this mean an allergy?

REPLY

No. If what you say is true, your boy is a rare case of something and should be studied by a competent child specialist.

OVULATION

Mrs. R. writes: Does ovulation occur more than once a month?

REPLY

Not as a rule.

BIRTHMARKS

M. L. writes: Are all birthmarks colored or could they be white like the skin?

REPLY

Birthmarks usually are colored but some have little or no pigment.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

By midyear 1960 the Russians should have between 40 and 45 intercontinental missiles ready to fire. The United States will have 20 operational Atlas missiles. And as the Russians already know, these will be sticking up like sore thumbs at Vandenberg Air Force Base where they could all be destroyed by one bomb.

By mid-1961, Russia should have between 200 and 300 combat-ready ICBMs. The United States will have only 50 Atlas and 10 Titan missiles.

By mid-1962, Dulles expects the Russians to have between 500 and 800 missiles capable of reaching any American target.

Dulles added that Soviet missiles appear to be even more accurate and reliable than our own. Of 25 intercontinental missiles tested in the past 10 months, Central Intelligence detected only one failure.

Dulles's figures support Gen. Tom Power's warning that Russia will have enough intercontinental missiles by 1962 to wipe out our own retaliatory force. Despite this matehematical edge, the National Security Council has concluded that it would still be too risky for Russia to count upon a missile broadside's destroying America's power to strike back. This is what Secretary of Defense Gates meant when he said his optimistic outlook is based upon Russian "intent."

Only bright spot in Dulles's secret testimony was his report that the United States should start catching up with Russia in missile power when our Minuteman missiles start coming off the production line in 1963. The National Intelligence Estimate indicates the United States finally should surpass Russia in missile strength by late 1964. But this assumes that Moscow will be content to continue its present schedule.

Note — Vice President Nixon, alarmed over the effect a missile lag may have on his election chances, has been studying the secret testimony and conferring with Republican members of the Senate and House Armed Services Committee.

Everybody Blames Reuther

A hundred students demonstrating in front of the White House were carrying signs with such legends as, "We're for peace—is Walter?"

"Whatever it is," replied the other, "he's had it coming to him."

They went on their way—not knowing that the pickets were really denouncing Rep. Francis Walter, head of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Absent Elder Statesman

One of the ironies of last week's voting on the aid-to-education bill was that one of its authors, Sen. Jim Murray of Montana, wasn't around to vote for the bill which he has pushed for some years. The 84-year-old Democrat was resting in Puerto Rico. If he had been present the tie vote on the crucial Clark amendment, which was in essence the Murray-Metcalf bill, would have been broken.

This brings up a problem which confronts many elder Senators with great careers. They aren't willing to step aside in favor of younger men. Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island is an exception. Last year he stepped down as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in favor of young Bill Fulbright of Arkansas. And this year Green has announced his final retirement from politics.

Jim Murray has had an equally great career. He is one of the earliest New Deal Senators, having been elected one year after Roosevelt entered the White House, replacing prosecutor-Senator Tom Walsh, who unearthed the scandal of Teapot Dome.

Of late, Murray has not been in good health, is increasingly absent from the Senate. He comes up for re-election this year, but hasn't let it be known definitely whether he will step aside in favor of a younger man. This makes it difficult for his friend and co-author of the education bill, Congressman Lee Metcalf, to enter the race for Senator.

Not so considerate is Congressman LeRoy Anderson, also a Democrat, who has announced for Murray's place. A retired major general, Anderson has incurred the ire of Montana farmers by applying for and getting a grand total of $216,730 from the Agriculture Department for three years of soil bank and crop support participation.

Selfish Ambition And The National Security

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Another general speaks up in dissent. He is a former member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Since he now is retired, he can talk freely. He has long held the view that there is a nuclear stalemate in the world and that the next war will be fought on the ground. So he wants to see more money spent for mobile ground forces.

These views expressed by General Maxwell D. Taylor, until recently head of the U. S. Army, serve to emphasize the kind of problem that nowadays faces the President of the United States as the commander-in-chief of our armed forces.

General Taylor, like General Power of the Strategic Air Command of the U. S. Air Force, is sincerely dedicated to the defense of the United States. The ideas and advice of both generals have previously been laid before the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Secretary of Defense and the President. So they are not new. But what is new is the prodding of such generals by Democratic leaders in Congress who seek to publicize an impression that the defense of the United States is imperiled, even if it means telling the enemy more details of our defense preparations.

One would think that in a matter of such vital concern to the nation the orderly way would be for the committees to receive testimony in private, and for committee chairmen thereafter to express themselves to the Secretary of Defense or to lay their views in confidence before the President. But the trouble with that procedure is that it would not get the headlines so necessary to assist the Democrats in their efforts to discredit the Administration.

What General Taylor says about the need for ground forces, on the theory that nuclear war will never be fought, is, of course, realistic. It is something the highest military advisers of the President took into account a few years ago when they favored the "new look." A decision had to be made as to how the available funds would be spent. The policy finally laid down by the President called for a massive retaliatory power, with manned bombers, missiles and nuclear weapons of all kinds, to deter any aggression by a potential enemy.

General Taylor, however, feels that the real danger lies in a possible encroachment by the enemy on our allies by land operations. This is what is called "limited war." It can be readily concerned that such a contingency might arise. The natural conclusion is that perhaps preparations should be made for both "limited war" and "unlimited nuclear war." But this would add at least $14 billion a year to our $41-billion budget for defense.

When a man who has been Chief of Staff of the Army makes a declaration to Congress that our defense set-up is "inadequate," It naturally gives the members something to utilize in their assault on the Administration's policies. This has always been a tough problem for democratic government. Thus, today in the midst of a "cold war," when delicate diplomatic situations are being created by the summit conferences and the exchanges of visits by heads of state, it is not desirable for the President of the United States to engage in a public debate about what a potential enemy might do. If he feels that tensions have been relaxed for a while and that an airborne alert, for instance, isn't needed 24 hours a day every day in the week, he may be taking what is called a "calculated risk." But that's his responsibility. The generals, on the other hand, have no diplomatic duties or over-all responsibility for the economic welfare of the nation. They are concerned only with the tools they think they need to carry out every possible task in war.

So the debate continues about alleged weaknesses and inadequacies, and the importance of each category of weapons in every kind of military strategy. The President of the United States gives reassuring statements constantly, in the judgment of the highest military officers on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, America is safe and has sufficient deterrent to prevent an enemy from attacking us. But all this is brushed aside while the criticism is aired.

Maybe Democracy will someday learn how to function without allowing controversial questions of defense policy to be dragged into politics. Maybe Congress will someday take testimony in private and then consult with the officials of the Executive Branch. Maybe the Chief Executive, who gets intelligence reports about what the enemy is planning and doing, will be able to share them with the leaders in Congress. For in time of national emergency, like that involved in a "cold war," such delicate questions can be handled effectively in the public interest only in the privacy of government councils, as is customary in wartime. But an orderly procedure of this kind in "peacetime" apparently can come only when selfish ambition no longer rules the day.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EAVESDROPPING — It is estimated that there are more than 1,000 tiny, sensitive recording devices in use in Washington, mostly by the federal government. Their uses are varied, and almost all are legitimate, but some undoubtedly come into play in the fine game of espionage.

Some are known to be in the possession of the FBI, the Central Intelligence Agency, and the intelligence branches of the armed services.

The little devices have microphones concealed in tie clasps, wrist watches, brooches and metal initials on handbags. They are being investigated by a Senate constitutional rights subcommittee, to see if the government isn't sometimes straying off the reservation.

Most unusual use for the devices so far is at an Army ordnance laboratory. A recorder no bigger than a man's hand is being used at the laboratory on bomb disposal research, but the details are secret.

Another recorder is being taken apart and studied to see if any of its miniature parts can help in miniaturization work needed for missiles. The recorders are made in Germany.

Some Social And Medical Aspects Of Yawning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a person is happy he is likely to laugh; in contrast, weeping expresses sorrow. Yawning is a comparable gesture, indicating boredom or lack of interest. But yawning is involved in more processes than personality and social meaning because it occurs when the individual is drowsy or weary.

Infants and animals yawn. Jacques Barbizet believes certain movements of the beak of a bird, accompanied by flapping of wings, belong in this category.

Did you ever analyze a yawn? It begins by opening the mouth slowly and taking a deep breath. The tongue is pulled backward and downward, the tip moving well away from the teeth. The throat increases fourfold in size.

The second stage starts at the height of inspiration when the mouth is fully opened. At this point the eyelids close, the nostrils dilate, the nose wrinkles, and the eyebrows go up. The facial expression changes and the limbs are stretched. The last phase consists of passive expiration. It is slow and noisy and often is followed by "ah." The time for the maneuver varies from 4 to 7 seconds.

The polite person attempts to stifle the yawn by placing the hand over the mouth, modulating breathing, or attempting to keep the lips together. But despite these efforts it usually is betrayed by such gestures.

Yawning occurs during pregnancy and is a symptom of several diseases, including anemia and circulatory disorders of the brain. It is noted occasionally in victims of brain tumor, stroke, encephalitis (sleeping sickness), chorea, and certain varieties of epilepsy.

It has been said that one yawn brings seven. This refers to the infectious nature of gaping, which is difficult to explain except on a psychological basis. Readers of this article may yawn because of disinterest but suggestion or weariness may be the precipitating cause.

TOMORROW: Silent stones may become vocal.

GUM SWALLOWING

L. R. writes: My sister's children, aged 2 to 8, go to bed with a wad of two or three sticks of gum in their mouths and swallow it during sleep. What effect does this have on the stomach?

REPLY

None, but I recommend that they park their gum before going to bed. It might get into the windpipe and smother the youngster.

DISTRESS FROM PILLOW

S. H. writes: Can you explain this? When I sleep on a pillow I awaken with running eyes and nose. When I don't use a pillow, I don't get up with these symptoms.

REPLY

You must be allergic to the feathers in the pillow. Continue to sleep without a pillow or try a foam rubber pillow or plastic protective case.

GRAYING AT 11

L. S. writes: My 11 year-old son is a poor eater. Could this account for strands of gray hair that are beginning to appear?

REPLY

No — not even if you nagged him constantly to eat more. Strands of gray hair can be found in almost everyone if you look hard enough.

SPASTIC COLON

C. M. writes: How does bowel spasm act?

REPLY

Abdominal pain develops because of cramping or spasm of the intestine. Nervousness is the most common cause and the condition is most prevalent during periods of stress and strain.

CHAMELEON

Mrs. L. F. writes: When my son eats spinach his skin turns green and when he eats carrots it turns orange. Does this mean an allergy?

REPLY

No. If what you say is true, your boy is a rare case of something and should be studied by a competent child specialist.

OVULATION

Mrs. R. writes: Does ovulation occur more than once a month?

REPLY

Not as a rule.

BIRTHMARKS

M. L. writes: Are all birthmarks colored or could they be white like the skin?

REPLY

Birthmarks usually are colored but some have little or no pigment.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

DID YOU HEAR THIS ONE?

An incredible bore in "The Unbearable Bassington" attempts to tell the impatient Comus Bassington about an experience he had with an impoverished family. "The gratitude of these poor creatures," drones the bore, "when I presented them with a few trifles apiece, the tears in their eyes when they thanked me would be impossible to describe."

"Thank you all the same for describing it," says Bassington.

At a newspaper convention, a jovial publisher won friends and influenced everybody by passing out what he was pleased to call "little old Texas scratch pads." Inside the conventional covers was stapled a stack of crisp, new five-dollar bills!

Letter From SEC

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—In the Senate investigations that brought about the Securities and Exchange Commission, witnesses from the field of finance learned one lesson:

Don't write letters and memoranda.

The SEC commissioners and staff apparently never learned that lesson, along with quite a few others—for which as a column writer in need of an idea we are thankful.

To wit, Philip A. Loomis Jr., director of the Division of Trading and Exchanges in the SEC's Washington headquarters.

Mr. Loomis has just written a longer than two-page letter to a reader of this column who had sent him an article headed—"Stock Gyps 'Take' Public While SEC Takes A Bow."

Mr. Loomis wrote the reader—a lady—

"This is in reply to your note of January 12, enclosing a copy of Leslie Gould's article in the New York Journal American of January 11 and, very reasonably, inquiring 'What about this?'

"Mr. Gould is, of course, entitled to his own opinion as to the effectiveness of the Commission's work, but there are some statements I would like to comment on."

To take up one of Mr. Loomis' comments.

"Conditions in the financial markets are very different than they were in 1929.

"This, in a large measure, is due to compliance by the legitimate securities industry with the reforms established by the federal securities laws."

Mr. Loomis in the next breath—or rather sentence—says:

"The operation of 'boiler shops' is illegal and so are the manipulations and 'pool operations'."

Then he admits—and we hope ruefully—

"Such activities, unfortunately do occur to some extent, since no law enforcement agency can wholly stamp out crime and it takes time to develop a case and bring it on for trial."

"I would not say, however, that 'boiler shops' are 'flourishing'."

To turn about Mr. Loomis' phrase, he, "of course, is entitled to his own opinion."

The facts are that "boiler shops" are flourishing and have continued, even though four years ago this column wrote a series of 12 articles exposing the operation, including the peddling of a couple of Stock Exchange listed stocks. One of the exposures was in a stock operation for which Alexander Guterma and Lowell Birrell, the fugitive "financier" only recently were indicted. So, we will agree with Mr. Loomis "it do take time."

The trouble is that when the SEC seems to act, the damage has been done. Investors have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars. Interesting, most of today's "boiler shop" operations were in business four years ago.

The actual loss on "boiler shop" high pressure telephone selling of cheap and questionable stocks—all cleared up by the SEC for public sale—runs into the millions.

If Mr. Loomis doesn't think "pool" operations and manipulations are being carried on today, somebody at the SEC must be taking tranquilizers.

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Rain and sleet whipped into a blizzard by gale winds raged at this olympic site Monday bringing a crisis that threatened the winter games.

20 Million Investment

Emergency crews battled to save the 20 million dollar olympic investment for the Feb. 18-28 games. Several roads throughout the area were blocked temporarily by fallen trees. Only people with official business were allowed in the county road leading into Squaw Valley, 200 miles east of San Francisco and 40 miles west of Reno.

Rain that fell for 24 hours became sleet and snow this afternoon. Winds were so strong one telephone company employe was blown against a tree. He suffered head injuries and a broken thumb. Several trailers were overturned.

Managing Director H. D. Thoreau of the Olympic Organizing Committee issued a statement saying:

Rain Unprecedented

Winds toppled a 75-foot pine tree 30 feet behind the olympic administration building. It fell virtually parallel to the building. Had it crashed into the roof serious injury could have resulted with the structure swarming with olympic workers.

Athletes were confined to their quarters.

Thoreau said nearly everything in the valley was threatened.

A main power line went out of service when a 75-foot tree crashed down 30 feet behind the administration building and left the line dangling. No one was hurt.

A power company employe whistled pedestrians away from the area and emergency power went on in the building.

Plaster Figures Topple

Winds in gusts ranged from 40 m.p.h. in the valley to 90 m.p.h. on the peaks. Four huge plaster figures of olympic athletes toppled. One, in front of the 3½-million-dollar ice arena, came down on a ticket booth.

Weather has plagued the last three winter games.

In 1952 at Oslo, trucks had to be sent out to bring in snow from the mountains.

At Cortina D'Amphezzo in 1956 there was a snow shortage until the last minute.

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Rain and sleet whipped into a blizzard by gale winds raged at this olympic site Monday bringing a crisis that threatened the winter games.

20 Million Investment

Emergency crews battled to save the 20 million dollar olympic investment for the Feb. 18-28 games. Several roads throughout the area were blocked temporarily by fallen trees. Only people with official business were allowed in the county road leading into Squaw Valley, 200 miles east of San Francisco and 40 miles west of Reno.

Rain that fell for 24 hours became sleet and snow this afternoon. Winds were so strong one telephone company employe was blown against a tree. He suffered head injuries and a broken thumb. Several trailers were overturned.

Managing Director H. D. Thoreau of the Olympic Organizing Committee issued a statement saying:

Rain Unprecedented

Winds toppled a 75-foot pine tree 30 feet behind the olympic administration building. It fell virtually parallel to the building. Had it crashed into the roof serious injury could have resulted with the structure swarming with olympic workers.

Athletes were confined to their quarters.

Thoreau said nearly everything in the valley was threatened.

A main power line went out of service when a 75-foot tree crashed down 30 feet behind the administration building and left the line dangling. No one was hurt.

Plaster Figures Topple

Winds in gusts ranged from 40 m.p.h. in the valley to 90 m.p.h. on the peaks. Four huge plaster figures of olympic athletes toppled. One, in front of the 3½-million-dollar ice arena, came down on a ticket booth.

Weather has plagued the last three winter games.

In 1952 at Oslo, trucks had to be sent out to bring in snow from the mountains.

At Cortina D'Amphezzo in 1956 there was a snow shortage until the last minute.

But in each case the games proceeded on schedule.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Memphis State and Providence, each with a 13-3 record, signed up Monday with the National Invitation basketball tournament—giving the NIT a 5-0 lead over the NCAA tourney in the battle for top independent teams.

The NCAA carnival has yet to fill any of its 26 berths—the 13 reserved for conference champs or the 13 "member at large" berths.

But the NIT to be staged at Madison Square Garden, March 10-19, now has five of its 12 entrants. Previously named were Villanova (16-1), Dayton (16-3), and Detroit (15-3).

WMI Leaders Shoot For 7th Straight Win

Mt. Savage Visits Valley; Bulldogs Invade Frederick

Thirty years have elapsed since a Beall High School basketball team won at Campobello and the current edition of the Mountaineers will give it another try tonight when they face Coach Chet Payne's Allegany Campers who are undefeated in seven starts on their new court.

It was on March 1, 1929 that Beall won its last game on an Allegany court. The score was 37-27. J. Stanley Hunter, now hospitalized in Hagerstown as a result of a paralytic stroke, was the Beall High coach that year and his players included "Ebbie" Finzel, present Beall mentor, who has been at the helm since 1935, Joe Timmons, Ray Middleton, Tony Matese and Walter Parks. Beall also won on its home court in 1929 (30-20) but has been able to beat the Campers there only four times (1936, 1951, 1954 and 1955) in 31 seasons.

Unbeaten In WMI Loop

Allegany will be gunning for its seventh consecutive W.M.I. League victory as well as its third straight win in the three-school race for the Allegany County Class "A" crown. The Campers hold decisions over Beall 38-36 and Fort Hill 49-48 in the "A" race in which the winner represents the county in the district tourney.

Beall's W.M.I. record is 3-3 and its overall mark is 7-7. Allegany is 11-4 for the season and 6-0 in the league which it leads by two games over Valley High (4-2).

Class B Teams Tangle

Valley High, tied with Bruce for the runner-up spot in the W.M.I. loop at 4-2, faces Mt. Savage High's Indians tonight on the Valley court in an important county Class B contest. Bruce leads this race with a 2-0 record, Valley is 1-1, and Mt. Savage is 0-2. Valley was the state Class B champion last season and won the opener of the current series at Mt. Savage by the score of 64-54.

The third W.M.I. League game of the evening finds Bruce tangling with Fort Hill at Westernport. The Bulldogs copped the opener here, 60-48, and will be striving for a sweep against the Sentinels who are 0-6 in the county circuit.

LaSalle Hosts Bedford

LaSalle High's Explorers, (15-2) beaten in two of their last four games by Valley and Mt. Savage away from home, will be trying to make it nine wins in a row on SS. Peter & Paul court when they tackle the Bedford High Bisons tonight. Unbeaten at home this season, Coach George Geatz's Explorers have turned back Berlin, Beall, Mt. Savage, Valley, the Alumni, Paw Paw, Allegany and Fort Hill on the Fayette Street court.

Bedford lost the first game of the series to LaSalle, 64-46, and will be the underdog in tonight's game. The Bisons are 6-7 to date.

Romney Goes For 17th

Five Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap tonight and most interest centers in the Petersburg at Romney tilt in which the unbeaten Pioneers will be gunning for their 14th victory. Clyde Green's club (16-0) holds a 71-55 decision over the Vikings, who have won six and lost eight in the league.

Piedmont (11-0) is idle tonight but Elk Garden invades Ridgeley, Fort Ashby is at Wardensville, Franklin at Mathias and Paw Paw at the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Romney.

Southern High of Oakland (12-2) will be shooting for its 12th consecutive triumph when it hosts Mountaineer High of Thomas (3-12) tonight. The Highlanders won at Thomas earlier in the season by the score of 75-67 and should make it two straight.

Oldtown High School hosts Capon Bridge, Berkeley Springs visits Clear Spring and Hyndman High's Hornets step out of the Bedford County League to entertain the Somerset High School Eagles. Hnydman is 8-7 to date and is playing Somerset only once this season.

If The Cadets Win

Coach Homer Brooks' Frederick High Cadets are in a position to tighten up the Cumberland Valley Athletic League race if they can knock off Martinsburg's Bulldogs tonight in Frederick. The Cadets are 3-4 in the league and all three wins were registered at home at the expense of Allegany 56-48, North Hagerstown 54-30 and Fort Hill 53-46. If they are still as tough at home a victory over Martinsburg would reduce the Bulldogs' lead to one game over Allegany, the runner-up. Martinsburg heads the procession with a 6-1 record and Allegany is second (5-3). Frederick lost at Martinsburg by the score of 62-41.

This is the fourth year for the CVAL. Frederick won in 1957 with 5-1, Fort Hill copped the title in 1958 with 7-3 and North High of Hagerstown finished in front last season with 10-0.

Bobcats Vs. Hilltoppers

On the collegiate front tonight, West Liberty College's Hilltoppers, who played at Potomac State last night, tackle Frostburg State College in the Mountain City at 8 o'clock, while the Shepherd College Rams, defeated in their last nine outings, run into more trouble when they tackle Morris Harvey College, leader of the eastern division of the West Virginia Conference with a 10-2 record, at Charleston. Shepherd is winless in eleven starts in the conference.

Boston AFL Team Names Saban Coach

Former Indiana Star Played With Browns

Saban, 38, has been head coach for the past three years at Western Illinois University, where his teams had won 14 straight games. An all big 10 quarterback at the University of Indiana 16 years ago, Saban was captain and defensive linebacker of the Browns of the rival National Football League from 1946 through 1949. The Browns won the league championship all four years that Saban played with them. Saban also was head coach at Northwestern for a single season, in 1955.

"I think the job has everything to make it a tremendous football operation," said Saban from Macomb, Ill., site of Western Illinois. "I'm going to Boston tomorrow to sit down and settle everything."

Saban's appointment was announced at noon by William H. Sullivan Jr., one of the 10 owners of the newly-formed Boston club.

Browns Have Twins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jimmy Brown, star fullback for the Cleveland Browns, is the father of twins, a boy and a girl. The children were born last week, but newsmen here learned of the event only Monday.

Beall-Allegany, Bedford-LaSalle Play Here Tonight

WMI Leaders Shoot For 7th Straight Win

Mt. Savage Visits Valley; Bulldogs Invade Frederick

Thirty years have elapsed since a Beall High School basketball team won at Campobello and the current edition of the Mountaineers will give it another try tonight when they face Coach Chet Payne's Allegany Campers who are undefeated in seven starts on their new court.

It was on March 1, 1929 that Beall won its last game on an Allegany court. The score was 37-27. J. Stanley Hunter, now hospitalized in Hagerstown as a result of a paralytic stroke, was the Beall High coach that year and his players included "Ebbie" Finzel, present Beall mentor, who has been at the helm since 1935, Joe Timmons, Ray Middleton, Tony Matese and Walter Parks. Beall also won on its home court in 1929 (30-20) but has been able to beat the Campers there only four times (1936, 1951, 1954 and 1955) in 31 seasons.

Unbeaten In WMI Loop

Allegany will be gunning for its seventh consecutive W.M.I. League victory as well as its third straight win in the three-school race for the Allegany County Class "A" crown. The Campers hold decisions over Beall 38-36 and Fort Hill 49-48 in the "A" race in which the winner represents the county in the district tourney.

Beall's W.M.I. record is 3-3 and its overall mark is 7-7. Allegany is 11-4 for the season and 6-0 in the league which it leads by two games over Valley High (4-2).

Class B Teams Tangle

Valley High, tied with Bruce for the runner-up spot in the W.M.I. loop at 4-2, faces Mt. Savage High's Indians tonight on the Valley court in an important county Class B contest. Bruce leads this race with a 2-0 record, Valley is 1-1, and Mt. Savage is 0-2. Valley was the state Class B champion last season and won the opener of the current series at Mt. Savage by the score of 64-54.

The third W.M.I. League game of the evening finds Bruce tangling with Fort Hill at Westernport. The Bulldogs copped the opener here, 60-48, and will be striving for a sweep against the Sentinels who are 0-6 in the county circuit.

LaSalle Hosts Bedford

LaSalle High's Explorers, (15-2) beaten in two of their last four games by Valley and Mt. Savage away from home, will be trying to make it nine wins in a row on SS. Peter & Paul court when they tackle the Bedford High Bisons tonight. Unbeaten at home this season, Coach George Geatz's Explorers have turned back Berlin, Beall, Mt. Savage, Valley, the Alumni, Paw Paw, Allegany and Fort Hill on the Fayette Street court.

Bedford lost the first game of the series to LaSalle, 64-46, and will be the underdog in tonight's game. The Bisons are 6-7 to date.

Romney Goes For 17th

Five Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap tonight and most interest centers in the Petersburg at Romney tilt in which the unbeaten Pioneers will be gunning for their 14th victory. Clyde Green's club (16-0) holds a 71-55 decision over the Vikings, who have won six and lost eight in the league.

Piedmont (11-0) is idle tonight but Elk Garden invades Ridgeley, Fort Ashby is at Wardensville, Franklin at Mathias and Paw Paw at the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Romney.

Southern High of Oakland (12-2) will be shooting for its 12th consecutive triumph when it hosts Mountaineer High of Thomas (3-12) tonight. The Highlanders won at Thomas earlier in the season by the score of 75-67 and should make it two straight.

Oldtown High School hosts Capon Bridge, Berkeley Springs visits Clear Spring and Hyndman High's Hornets step out of the Bedford County League to entertain the Somerset High School Eagles. Hnydman is 8-7 to date and is playing Somerset only once this season.

If The Cadets Win

Coach Homer Brooks' Frederick High Cadets are in a position to tighten up the Cumberland Valley Athletic League race if they can knock off Martinsburg's Bulldogs tonight in Frederick. The Cadets are 3-4 in the league and all three wins were registered at home at the expense of Allegany 56-48, North Hagerstown 54-30 and Fort Hill 53-46. If they are still as tough at home a victory over Martinsburg would reduce the Bulldogs' lead to one game over Allegany, the runner-up. Martinsburg heads the procession with a 6-1 record and Allegany is second (5-3). Frederick lost at Martinsburg by the score of 62-41.

This is the fourth year for the CVAL. Frederick won in 1957 with 5-1, Fort Hill copped the title in 1958 with 7-3 and North High of Hagerstown finished in front last season with 10-0.

Bobcats Vs. Hilltoppers

On the collegiate front tonight, West Liberty College's Hilltoppers, who played at Potomac State last night, tackle Frostburg State College in the Mountain City at 8 o'clock, while the Shepherd College Rams, defeated in their last nine outings, run into more trouble when they tackle Morris Harvey College, leader of the eastern division of the West Virginia Conference with a 10-2 record, at Charleston. Shepherd is winless in eleven starts in the conference.

Boston AFL Team Names Saban Coach

Former Indiana Star Played With Browns

Saban, 38, has been head coach for the past three years at Western Illinois University, where his teams had won 14 straight games. An all big 10 quarterback at the University of Indiana 16 years ago, Saban was captain and defensive linebacker of the Browns of the rival National Football League from 1946 through 1949. The Browns won the league championship all four years that Saban played with them. Saban also was head coach at Northwestern for a single season, in 1955.

"I think the job has everything to make it a tremendous football operation," said Saban from Macomb, Ill., site of Western Illinois. "I'm going to Boston tomorrow to sit down and settle everything."

Saban's appointment was announced at noon by William H. Sullivan Jr., one of the 10 owners of the newly-formed Boston club.

Browns Have Twins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jimmy Brown, star fullback for the Cleveland Browns, is the father of twins, a boy and a girl. The children were born last week, but newsmen here learned of the event only Monday.

Legislature In W.Va. Moves On Schedule

Adjournment Seen Thursday

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature moved along Monday toward on-time adjournment Thursday by speeding through early preliminaries on involved budget bills in both the House and Senate.

The Senate passed its versions Monday and the House is expected to pass its bill — which is $860,313 higher—on Tuesday. This could clear the way for work on a compromise budget to begin as early as Tuesday night.

The total of the House budget bill is $119,023,540 compared to $118,163,227 in the Senate.

There is no great difference in the amount each chamber would spend for unemployment relief—$4,575,000 by the House and $4,350,000 by the Senate — but there is a good deal of difference on how it would be used.

In other feature legislative action Monday:

—The Senate passed a bill to exempt chocolate - base home mixed drinks made with milk, like cocoa and hot chocolate, from the pop tax.

—The House heard speaker Harry Pauley defend his opposition to a 12-week increase in the jobless pay period and said anybody who says his action was dictated by special interests "can go to hell."

The Senate approved a resolution to set up a West Virginia Crime Study Commission but stipulated its session should be secret.

—The Tax Department told the House it would be a mistake now to change the procedures for property assessments under the state school aid setup without a more thorough study of implications of a bill along that line.

A major area of agreement in the two budget bills was the granting of an average 10 per cent salary hike for teachers at West Virginia University and state colleges.

The Senate bill would spend $3,400,000 for improvement projects in state parks and forests while the House allocated only $1,750,000 for such work. But the House included $2,000,000 for direct assistance to jobless workers without other benefits for food, clothing and medicine which the Senate did not.

The House previously approved the exemption for chocolate-base home mixed drinks and the measure goes to the governor for signature. Delegates will have to concur in Senate amendments to the activation of the crime study group which also include elimination of a House plan to restrict its membership.

Pauley took the floor after Del. George Burnett (D-Kanawha) castigated the Charleston Gazette-Mail for a Sunday editorial denouncing the House for its action in extending unemployment benefits. Burnett noted Pauley had voted against the measure and therefore was cast in good light under the editorial comment.

Pauley, in explaining his vote, said no one controlled his actions and in this instance he based his decision on floor debate which left some question as to the solvency of the unemployment compensation fund if the bill were enacted.

Asst. State Tax Commissioner Hobart Richey told the delegates there were many areas of clarification needed under existing laws relating to taxation procedures and school aid. He suggested appointment of a committee including tax officials, legislators and educators to work out the problems.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill exempting city policemen from provisions of the private detectives law when they work at off-duty jobs.

Delegates sent back to the Senate for concurrence in amendment limiting the amount of funds to be expended in a mental health survey in the state.

Relief Plan Goes To Floor Of W.Va. House

Is Part Of State Budget Program

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A $4,575,000 program for unemployment relief was reported to the floor of the House of Delegates Monday as part of the Finance Committee's proposed $119,023,540 state budget of 1960-61.

The aid plan — $240,000 higher than the Senate proposed — included $2,000,000 for more food, clothing and medical supplies for persons who have exhausted all other relief benefits. No such item was included in the Senate budget which that chamber passed Monday.

The House budget calls for expenditure of $113,948,540 for general operation of the state government. This total was $615,313 higher than the Senate version.

It also includes an average 10 per cent hike in faculty salaries at West Virginia University and state colleges.

House Finance Chairman Julius Singleton (D-Monongalia) said the committee lopped about $2,000,000 from budget requests by the State Board of Public Works for state agencies. The money is channeled back into the college and University budget.

The unemployment relief program calls for spending $1,750,000 to give unemployed jobs on improving state parks, forests etc.; $400,000 for retraining jobless workers and $275,000 for expansion of farm markets and the state oak wilt detection programs, among other things.

Singleton said the $2,000,000 item to provide food, clothing and medical supplies for the indigent would be administered by the DPA. This probably will be a major item of controversy when Senate and House budget conferees go to work to resolve differences in the two budgets.

The House allocation for park and forest improvements is about $1,650,000 lower than the Senate bill while the suggested appropriation for jobless re-training is $100,000 less.

The House included in the Agriculture Department for a new gardening program to encourage and help the unemployed ro raise food for their families.

Both the House and Senate budgets call for appropriation from surplus revenues of $480,000 for new construction work. Of this, $430,000 would go to St. Marys Training School for a new crib ward and $50,000 to the Agriculture Department for establishment of a poultry testing center at Moorefield.

The House budget calls for expenditure of $4,350,000 in new tax money, including $500,000 it expects during the remainder of the present fiscal year from an increase in whisky prices.

Besides the increase in liquor prices and a extension for another year of a $1,000,000 increase in the state insurance premium tax, it also plans to remove a $250,000 cut in the privilege tax on certain carrier corporations.

Legislature In W.Va. Moves On Schedule

Adjournment Seen Thursday

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature moved along Monday toward on-time adjournment Thursday by speeding through early preliminaries on involved budget bills in both the House and Senate.

The Senate passed its versions Monday and the House is expected to pass its bill — which is $860,313 higher—on Tuesday. This could clear the way for work on a compromise budget to begin as early as Tuesday night.

The total of the House budget bill is $119,023,540 compared to $118,163,227 in the Senate.

There is no great difference in the amount each chamber would spend for unemployment relief—$4,575,000 by the House and $4,350,000 by the Senate — but there is a good deal of difference on how it would be used.

In other feature legislative action Monday:

—The Senate passed a bill to exempt chocolate - base home mixed drinks made with milk, like cocoa and hot chocolate, from the pop tax.

—The House heard speaker Harry Pauley defend his opposition to a 12-week increase in the jobless pay period and said anybody who says his action was dictated by special interests "can go to hell."

The Senate approved a resolution to set up a West Virginia Crime Study Commission but stipulated its session should be secret.

—The Tax Department told the House it would be a mistake now to change the procedures for property assessments under the state school aid setup without a more thorough study of implications of a bill along that line.

A major area of agreement in the two budget bills was the granting of an average 10 per cent salary hike for teachers at West Virginia University and state colleges.

The Senate bill would spend $3,400,000 for improvement projects in state parks and forests while the House allocated only $1,750,000 for such work. But the House included $2,000,000 for direct assistance to jobless workers without other benefits for food, clothing and medicine which the Senate did not.

The House previously approved the exemption for chocolate-base home mixed drinks and the measure goes to the governor for signature. Delegates will have to concur in Senate amendments to the activation of the crime study group which also include elimination of a House plan to restrict its membership.

Pauley took the floor after Del. George Burnett (D-Kanawha) castigated the Charleston Gazette-Mail for a Sunday editorial denouncing the House for its action in extending unemployment benefits. Burnett noted Pauley had voted against the measure and therefore was cast in good light under the editorial comment.

Pauley, in explaining his vote, said no one controlled his actions and in this instance he based his decision on floor debate which left some question as to the solvency of the unemployment compensation fund if the bill were enacted.

Asst. State Tax Commissioner Hobart Richey told the delegates there were many areas of clarification needed under existing laws relating to taxation procedures and school aid. He suggested appointment of a committee including tax officials, legislators and educators to work out the problems.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill exempting city policemen from provisions of the private detectives law when they work at off-duty jobs.

Delegates sent back to the Senate for concurrence in amendment limiting the amount of funds to be expended in a mental health survey in the state.

Relief Plan Goes To Floor Of W.Va. House

Is Part Of State Budget Program

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A $4,575,000 program for unemployment relief was reported to the floor of the House of Delegates Monday as part of the Finance Committee's proposed $119,023,540 state budget of 1960-61.

The aid plan — $240,000 higher than the Senate proposed — included $2,000,000 for more food, clothing and medical supplies for persons who have exhausted all other relief benefits. No such item was included in the Senate budget which that chamber passed Monday.

The House budget calls for expenditure of $113,948,540 for general operation of the state government. This total was $615,313 higher than the Senate version.

It also includes an average 10 per cent hike in faculty salaries at West Virginia University and state colleges.

House Finance Chairman Julius Singleton (D-Monongalia) said the committee lopped about $2,000,000 from budget requests by the State Board of Public Works for state agencies. The money is channeled back into the college and University budget.

The unemployment relief program calls for spending $1,750,000 to give unemployed jobs on improving state parks, forests etc.; $400,000 for retraining jobless workers and $275,000 for expansion of farm markets and the state oak wilt detection programs, among other things.

Singleton said the $2,000,000 item to provide food, clothing and medical supplies for the indigent would be administered by the DPA. This probably will be a major item of controversy when Senate and House budget conferees go to work to resolve differences in the two budgets.

The House allocation for park and forest improvements is about $1,650,000 lower than the Senate bill while the suggested appropriation for jobless re - training is $100,000 less.

The House included in the Agriculture Department for a new gardening program to encourage and help the unemployed ro raise food for their families.

Both the House and Senate budgets call for appropriation from surplus revenues of $480,000 for new construction work. Of this, $430,000 would go to St. Marys Training School for a new crib ward and $50,000 to the Agriculture Department for establishment of a poultry testing center at Moorefield.

The House budget calls for expenditure of $4,350,000 in new tax money, including $500,000 it expects during the remainder of the present fiscal year from an increase in whisky prices.

Besides the increase in liquor prices and a extension for another year of a $1,000,000 increase in the state insurance premium tax, it also plans to remove a $250,000 cut in the privilege tax on certain carrier corporations.

In Memoriam

WILKINSON—In loving memory of my dear husband and our beloved father, Armond B. Wilkinson, who passed away 9 years ago today, Feb. 9, 1951.

Reds Criticize Ike

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communist radio charged Monday that President Eisenhower's recent good will tour of Europe, Africa and Asia was "actually spent in negotiating rocket bases.

It accused the President of speeding the nuclear rearmament of West Germany, saying that it "is to have 10 new Nazi divisions by 1963."

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—That long distance bill really ran up as Marge Champion chatted from New York as if she was having tea in my office about her and Gower's plans.

"I haven't been exactly idle while Gower has been directing and doing the choreography on the musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie'" Marge told me. "I expect to star in 'Happiness', a play J. Hartley Manners wrote years ago for Laurette Taylor. Edward Padua, who is producing 'Bye, Bye, Birdie' and Mike Stewart who adapted it, will repeat their jobs on 'Happiness'. Of course Gower will be right by my side directing and doing the choreography—but he won't be in the show with me."

Three years ago Sam made "Chicago Syndicate" with Dennis O'Keefe and Abbe Lane. It uncannily parallels the present police scandal so closely that it seems on the minute news.

Katzman knows now why he encountered such opposition when he went to Chicago to shoot location scenes. He was given the cold shoulder by certain members of the police department, so he had to cut corners to get what he was after. With the strike raising its ugly head he'll release it quickly.

Seems as if MGM would never find a 12-year girl with the beauty and personality of Elizabeth Taylor at the age, when she made "National Velvet". A four months search has been on and finally a "winnah" has been found right there in Los Angeles—as usual.

The lucky girl is Lori Martin and she's said to be a dead-ringer for Elizabeth Taylor—Elizabeth, that is, at 12, when she catapulted into fame in this same "National Velvet".

Lori is one up on Liz in that she is a better horsewoman. When the little Taylor girl was told that she had been chosen as the star of "National Velvet" she said, "I hope they choose a horse that likes me."

Now I know the magic formula for newcomers to zoom to stardom—be directed by Vincente Minelli. Two lucky young actors, George Peppard and George Hamilton, get the charmed Minelli treatment in "Home From the Hills" (along with veterans Bob Mitchum and Eleanor Parker) in as fine a piece of entertainment as you are going to see this season. I had previously viewed a few scenes from "Home" but not until I ran the completed picture at my house did I realize what a smash MGM has in the story of the tangled emotions of a rich southern family.

Bob Mitchum opens your eyes wide to his dramatic talent as the autocratic father who begins to play the field after his wife (Eleanor) locks their bedroom door. Young Hamilton reminds me inexplicably of Tony Perkins and Peppard, recruited from Broadway, is so natural you'd never suspect a camera within miles of his emotions.

Applause not only for Minnelli's sensitive direction; but also for producer Edmund Grainer and Sol Siegel, head of MGM production.

There's a maternity ward on the back lot of 20th Century-Fox where twenty one baby goats, eleven baby lambs and a baby camel were born. Among them is a pair of twin kids. All of the newcomers are apart of the scenes in "The Story of Ruth." This is the season for such events in the animal kingdom.

The stars have been taking a back seat all week while all the visitors take a look at the babies. With all the camels in the picture Peggy Wood, who plays Naomi, calls "The Story of Ruth" an authentic "eastern."

Is Steve Cochran blowing his top since American vice-consul in Copenhagen, George Anderson, barred Steve's Danish sweetheart, Jana Jensen, from joining him in Hollywood! The romance began last year when Steve was making a TV series in Copenhagen and Steve fell for the pretty non-professional in a big way.

"I've been on the telephone to Washington, D.C. ever since I learned that Anderson had refused Jana a visitor's permit" says Steve explosively. "This is a lovely girl, a highly respectable young lady and I'd like this Mr. Anderson to show cause for his unusual decision." I might add that when Steve isn't on the 'phone to Washington, he's starring in "The Renegade" TV series at MGM.

The strong lines in William Pearson's novel "Fever in the Blood," similar to the words used in "Anatomy of a Murder," had the Johnston office kicking up a storm. However, a compromise will be worked out and some of the language toned down.

While Steve Trilling, of Warner Bros., tells me no one is cast, it wouldn't surprise me if Jim Garner and Efrem Zimbalist get the plum roles. It's a very strong dramatic story.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Art Of Accepting Refusal

How to say no is quite a hurdle for most women. But what about those who "can't take no for an answer?" Accepting refusal is another art to cultivate, particularly when a woman accepts one of the two most sensitive and thankless tasks ever inherited by Eve's daughters.

They are—the Collector and the Committee-worker.

Repitition alone makes the collector's lot a hard one. On the other hand, the habit of charity and widespread publicity campaigns pre-condition people to be receptive.

Still, the collector is right in the middle. And she'd better stay there, if she is not to be pulled apart physically and emotionally.

Whether she's canvassing the neighborhood in an organized drive or tapping fellow-employees for an office gift, she knows that a large part of her selling technique involves the "personal touch." (This is one of the big reasons nationwide charities have come to depend on neighborhood contacts.)

So, apply that personal touch delicately . . . but don't get PERSONAL! That's the secret of the seasoned collector. She knows it might be simpler, socially, to "sell" a stranger . . . but she has learned to excel in self-discipline when dealing with friends and neighbors.

The quiet voice, the courteous approach, the friendly smile . . . these open the doors. Doors remain open, in return-courtesy, when the collector KNOWS HER FACTS and can explain them briefly and intelligently.

When the doors begin to close, she stifles irritation or impatience. And she refuses to argue!

To be sure, some people seem to want coaxing, to need shaming, to require prodding by comparison with "the Joneses." These are pitfalls to skirt by a wide hem. It's unfair to trade on emotions, to capitalize on personal knowledge about people and their circumstances. It should never be necessary to force an honestly "embarrassed" person to turn out his empty pockets and put the linings on display.

Always exit smiling, expressing your thanks. If you are brusque and cross, if you show you're hurt, you'll also hurt the cause you represent. You mustn't spoil the welcome for the next worthy cause. And you must conserve your charm for your next call.

It is almost inevitable that a woman's one absorbing interest tends to insulate her from the more objective attitudes of the outsiders she contacts. She must school herself against pushing, pestering and patronizing. Her own natural enthusiasm will be the most effective example for contagious cooperation.

If the answer is still no, she can teach herself to take it . . . as long as she doesn't take it personally!

The bidding:

Opening lead: Three of ♦

A daring play in the trump suit by declarer, on which hinged a swing of nearly 2,500 points, was essential to the success of the doubled slam contract presented today.

The bidding was fast and furious and North's final call was something in the nature of a sacrifice bid since he was not sure if six diamonds could be defeated, and he felt the loss at six spades would be minor.

A heart lead would have settled the issue immediately, but West is not open to severe criticism for leading his partner's suit. The three of diamonds was ruffed in dummy, and declarer saw that the success of his contract hinged on the disposal of at least two of his heart losers. One could be discarded on the king of clubs, and another on the dummy's fifth club provided that the suit broke 4-3.

A complication arose, however, regarding entries. The opening lead reduced the dummy's trumps to three, two of which were required for transportation to ruff out the outstanding clubs. The third spade would have to provide entry to dummy to cash the long club.

Declarer returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led a low spade. West followed with the four and now came the moment of decision. If the opposing trumps were 1-1, the winning play from dummy is the king. However, if West holds both trumps, then a first round finesse against the queen must be taken in order to preserve all three of dummy's entries.

After several strokes of his rabbit's foot, South finally decided to play West for both trumps, and he took the finesse. Had East held the blank queen the defenders would have been in position to cash three heart tricks for an 800 point set. However, fortune was with declarer and, when the nine of spades held the trick, he ruffed a club, led another trump to the king and ruffed a club, establishing the suit. Now the queen of diamonds was ruffed in dummy and two hearts were discarded on the king and ten of clubs.

Reds Criticize Ike

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communist radio charged Monday that President Eisenhower's recent good will tour of Europe, Africa and Asia was "actually spent in negotiating rocket bases.

It accused the President of speeding the nuclear rearmament of West Germany, saying that it "is to have 10 new Nazi divisions by 1963."

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—That long distance bill really ran up as Marge Champion chatted from New York as if she was having tea in my office about her and Gower's plans.

"I haven't been exactly idle while Gower has been directing and doing the choreography on the musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie'" Marge told me. "I expect to star in 'Happiness', a play J. Hartley Manners wrote years ago for Laurette Taylor. Edward Padua, who is producing 'Bye, Bye, Birdie' and Mike Stewart who adapted it, will repeat their jobs on 'Happiness'. Of course Gower will be right by my side directing and doing the choreography—but he won't be in the show with me."

Three years ago Sam made "Chicago Syndicate" with Dennis O'Keefe and Abbe Lane. It uncannily parallels the present police scandal so closely that it seems on the minute news.

Katzman knows now why he encountered such opposition when he went to Cnicago to shoot location scenes. He was given the cold shoulder by certain members of the police department, so he had to cut corners to get what he was after. With the strike raising its ugly head he'll release it quickly.

Seems as if MGM would never find a 12-year girl with the beauty and personality of Elizabeth Taylor at the age, when she made "National Velvet". A four months search has been on and finally a "winnah" has been found right there in Los Angeles—as usual.

The lucky girl is Lori Martin and she's said to be a dead-ringer for Elizabeth Taylor—Elizabeth, that is, at 12, when she catapulted into fame in this same "National Velvet".

Lori is one up on Liz in that she is a better horsewoman. When the little Taylor girl was told that she had been chosen as the star of "National Velvet" she said, "I hope they choose a horse that likes me."

Now I know the magic formula for newcomers to zoom to stardom—be directed by Vincente Minelli. Two lucky young actors, George Peppard and George Hamilton, get the charmed Minelli treatment in "Home From the Hills" (along with veterans Bob Mitchum and Eleanor Parker) in as fine a piece of entertainment as you are going to see this season. I had previously viewed a few scenes from "Home" but not until I ran the completed picture at my house did I realize what a smash MGM has in the story of the tangled emotions of a rich southern family.

Bob Mitchum opens your eyes wide to his dramatic talent as the autocratic father who begins to play the field after his wife (Eleanor) locks their bedroom door. Young Hamilton reminds me inexplicably of Tony Perkins and Peppard, recruited from Broadway, is so natural you'd never suspect a camera within miles of his emotions.

Applause not only for Minnelli's sensitive direction; but also for producer Edmund Grainer and Sol Siegel, head of MGM production.

There's a maternity ward on the back lot of 20th Century-Fox where twenty one baby goats, eleven baby lambs and a baby camel were born. Among them is a pair of twin kids. All of the newcomers are apart of the scenes in "The Story of Ruth." This is the season for such events in the animal kingdom.

The stars have been taking a back seat all week while all the visitors take a look at the babbies. With all the camels in the picture Peggy Wood, who plays Naomi, calls "The Story of Ruth" an authentic "eastern."

Is Steve Cochran blowing his top since American vice-consul in Copenhagen, George Anderson, barred Steve's Danish sweetheart, Jana Jensen, from joining him in Hollywood! The romance began last year when Steve was making a TV series in Copenhagen and Steve fell for the pretty non-professional in a big way.

"I've been on the telephone to Washington, D.C. ever since I learned that Anderson had refused Jana a visitor's permit" says Steve explosively. "This is a lovely girl, a highly respectable young lady and I'd like this Mr. Anderson to show cause for his unusual decision." I might add that when Steve isn't on the 'phone to Washington, he's starring in "The Renegade" TV series at MGM.

The strong lines in William Pearson's novel "Fever in the Blood," similar to the words used in "Anatomy of a Murder," had the Johnston office kicking up a storm. However, a compromise will be worked out and some of the language toned down.

While Steve Trilling, of Warner Bros., tells me no one is cast, it wouldn't surprise me if Jim Garner and Efrem Zimbalist get the plum roles. It's a very strong dramatic story.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Art Of Accepting Refusal

How to say no is quite a hurdle for most women. But what about those who "can't take no for an answer?" Accepting refusal is another art to cultivate, particularly when a woman accepts one of the two most sensitive and thankless tasks ever inherited by Eve's daughters.

They are—the Collector and the Committee-worker.

Repitition alone makes the collector's lot a hard one. On the other hand, the habit of charity and widespread publicity campaigns pre-condition people to be receptive.

Still, the collector is right in the middle. And she'd better stay there, if she is not to be pulled apart physically and emotionally.

Whether she's canvassing the neighborhood in an organized drive or tapping fellow-employees for an office gift, she knows that a large part of her selling technique involves the "personal touch." (This is one of the big reasons nationwide charities have come to depend on neighborhood contacts.)

So, apply that personal touch delicately . . . but don't get PERSONAL! That's the secret of the seasoned collector. She knows it might be simpler, socially, to "sell" a stranger . . . but she has learned to excel in self-discipline when dealing with friends and neighbors.

The quiet voice, the courteous approach, the friendly smile . . . these open the doors. Doors remain open, in return-courtesy, when the collector KNOWS HER FACTS and can explain them briefly and intelligently.

When the doors begin to close, she stifles irritation or impatience. And she refuses to argue!

To be sure, some people seem to want coaxing, to need shaming, to require prodding by comparison with "the Joneses." These are pitfalls to skirt by a wide hem. It's unfair to trade on emotions, to capitalize on personal knowledge about people and their circumstances. It should never be necessary to force an honestly "embarrassed" person to turn out his empty pockets and put the linings on display.

Always exit smiling, expressing your thanks. If you are brusque and cross, if you show you're hurt, you'll also hurt the cause you represent. You mustn't spoil the welcome for the next worthy cause. And you must conserve your charm for your next call.

It is almost inevitable that a woman's one absorbing interest tends to insulate her from the more objective attitudes of the outsiders she contacts. She must school herself against pushing, pestering and patronizing. Her own natural enthusiasm will be the most effective example for contagious cooperation.

If the answer is still no, she can teach herself to take it . . . as long as she doesn't take it personally!

Opening lead: Three of ♦

A daring play in the trump suit by declarer, on which hinged a swing of nearly 2,500 points, was essential to the success of the doubled slam contract presented today.

The bidding was fast and furious and North's final call was something in the nature of a sacrifice bid since he was not sure if six diamonds could be defeated, and he felt the loss at six spades would be minor.

A heart lead would have settled the issue immediately, but West is not open to severe criticism for leading his partner's suit. The three of diamonds was ruffed in dummy, and declarer saw that the success of his contract hinged on the disposal of at least two of his heart losers. One could be discarded on the king of clubs, and another on the dummy's fifth club provided that the suit broke 4-3.

A complication arose, however, regarding entries. The opening lead reduced the dummy's trumps to three, two of which were required for transportation to ruff out the outstanding clubs. The third spade would have to provide entry to dummy to cash the long club.

Declarer returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led a low spade. West followed with the four and now came the moment of decision. If the opposing trumps were 1-1, the winning play from dummy is the king. However, if West holds both trumps, then a first round finesse against the queen must be taken in order to preserve all three of dummy's entries.

After several strokes of his rabbit's foot, South finally decided to play West for both trumps, and he took the finesse. Had East held the blank queen the defenders would have been in position to cash three heart tricks for an 800 point set. However, fortune was with declarer and, when the nine of spades held the trick, he ruffed a club, led another trump to the king and ruffed a club, establishing the suit. Now the queen of diamonds was ruffed in dummy and two hearts were discarded on the king and ten of clubs.

Late Rally Fails To Offset Early Plunge By Market

Prices sank fast in the early trading and by 1 p.m., industrials touched 614.58 off 12.19 from Friday's close and a new low since April 15, 1959. The decline itself was the widest since the average dropped more than 14 on Aug. 10 last year.

But support filtered into the list thereafter with many stocks recovering part, and in some cases, all of their earlier losses. Brokers noted the decline brought buyers into the market on the theory the list had formed a base for a new rally.

Chemicals were among the hardest hit. Declines in this group reflected a report by Standard & Poor's Corp. that the chemical export market was shrinking while imports were increasing.

DuPont, down more than 9, at its low, rallied in the late trading to close at 230½ off 3¾. Allied Chemical, trading ex-dividend, dropped more than 3, Dow more than 2 and Eastman Kodak more than a point.

Rails, which have managed to resist the market's general heaviness, dropped 1.73 in their average to close at 149.74. It was one of the widest losses suffered by the group this year. Losses of 1 or more appeared in Atlantic Coast Line, Great Northern Illinois Central and Norfolk & Western.

George Moves Again

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (UPI)—When fire destroyed the home of George Ferris, 60, two days before Christmas, the whole neighborhood pitched in to buy furniture and help his family move to another house.

Ferris moved again Monday—this time to the Ohio Penitentiary for setting his house afire in an attempt to defraud an insurance company of $3,100.

To Expand Hotels

BELGRADE (UPI)—The Yugoslav government, in a full-scale bid for the tourist market, will build or expand 60 hotels, 30 motels and 20 tourist restaurants this year, the official press agency Tanjung reported.

Tanjung said 820,000 foreign tourists visited Yugoslavia during the first 10 months of 1959, 37 per cent more than during the game period the year before.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—A flurry of late buying which led to short covering firmed most grains Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell wheat was off ¼ to up ½; corn up ⅛ to ½; oats unchanged to up ½; rye off ⅜ to up ⅝; and soybeans up ¼ to ⅞.

Wheat futures closed mostly firm. The old crop futures were steady. An elevator-export house bought May. Selling was scattered.

Corn prices ranged from steady to firm. Cash houses bought March against sales of May, and there was buying of May against sales of July. An elevator and local traders led the selling. Receipts were liberal, but the spot basis remained steady. Export subsidies were granted on 1,310,000 bushels of corn and 195,000 bushels of oats.

Rye was mixed. Holland was reported to have raised the import duty on rye from $2.60 to $5.20 a ton. Prior to the increase on Feb. 5, importers bought 10,000 tons of American rye.

Soybeans rallied to close strong. May met some selling against purchases of March. Earlier, beans rallied from a dip on elevator buying. The early selling resulted from another downward correction in export figures. Meals and oils were mixed.

Export circles reported the United Arab Republic bought 1,950,000 bushels of white and hard wheat. Israel purchased 500,000 bushels of soybeans, and Japan took 280,000 bushels of corn.

Outside markets were mostly steady.

Prices sank fast in the early trading and by 1 p.m., industrials touched 614.58 off 12.19 from Friday's close and a new low since April 15, 1959. The decline itself was the widest since the average dropped more than 14 on Aug. 10 last year.

But support filtered into the list thereafter with many stocks recovering part, and in some cases, all of their earlier losses. Brokers noted the decline brought buyers into the market on the theory the list had formed a base for a new rally.

Chemicals were among the hardest hit. Declines in this group reflected a report by Standard & Poor's Corp. that the chemical export market was shrinking while imports were increasing.

DuPont, down more than 9, at its low, rallied in the late trading to close at 230½ off 3¾. Allied Chemical, trading ex-dividend, dropped more than 3, Dow more than 2 and Eastman Kodak more than a point.

Rails, which have managed to resist the market's general heaviness, dropped 1.73 in their average to close at 149.74. It was one of the widest losses suffered by the group this year. Losses of 1 or more appeared in Atlantic Coast Line, Great Northern Illinois Central and Norfolk & Western.

George Moves Again

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (UPI)—When fire destroyed the home of George Ferris, 60, two days before Christmas, the whole neighborhood pitched in to buy furniture and help his family move to another house.

Ferris moved again Monday—this time to the Ohio Penitentiary for setting his house afire in an attempt to defraud an insurance company of $3,100.

To Expand Hotels

BELGRADE (UPI)—The Yugoslav government, in a full-scale bid for the tourist market, will build or expand 60 hotels, 30 motels and 20 tourist restaurants this year, the official press agency Tanjung reported.

Tanjung said 820,000 foreign tourists visited Yugoslavia during the first 10 months of 1959, 37 per cent more than during the game period the year before.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—A flurry of late buying which led to short covering firmed most grains Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell wheat was off ¼ to up ½; corn up ⅛ to ½; oats unchanged to up ½; rye off ⅜ to up ⅜; and soybeans up ¼ to ⅞.

Wheat futures closed mostly firm. The old crop futures were steady. An elevator-export house bought May. Selling was scattered.

Corn prices ranged from steady to firm. Cash houses bought March against sales of May, and there was buying of May against sales of July. An elevator and local traders led the selling. Receipts were liberal, but the spot basis remained steady. Export subsidies were granted on 1,310,000 bushels of corn and 195,000 bushels of oats.

Oats were mostly firm. A large commission house took March and May. Larger receipts touched off early selling.

Rye was mixed. Holland was reported to have raised the import duty on rye from $2.60 to $5.20 a ton. Prior to the increase on Feb. 5, importers bought 10,000 tons of American rye.

Soybeans rallied to close strong. May met some selling against purchases of March. Earlier, beans rallied from a dip on elevator buying. The early selling resulted from another downward correction in export figures. Meals and oils were mixed.

Export circles reported the United Arab Republic bought 1,950,000 bushels of white and hard wheat. Israel purchased 500,000 bushels of soybeans, and Japan took 280,000 bushels of corn.

Outside markets were mostly steady.

County Health Investigation Now Planned

Few Persons Speak At Court House

About 40 persons, primarily employes of the Allegany County Health Department along with some citizens interested in the department's welfare, attended an inconclusive meeting last night with the Board of County Commissioners at which the commissioners decided that a private investigation into the Health Department's administration will be conducted in the near future.

Gorman E. Getty, acting as attorney for the Health Department employes, informed the commissioners after his arrival at the meeting that public criticism by any employes might jeopardize their jobs and also would hurt public confidence in the department.

W. Earl Cobey had been expected to act as attorney for the employes but was taken to Memorial Hospital rather suddenly last night. As a result Mr. Getty did not get word to attend the meeting until his return to Cumberland by train more than an hour after the meeting started.

Rowan Absent

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, was absent last night because he had been in Baltimore yesterday on county business.

Commissioners William A. Wilson and John T. Mason were on hand and Mr. Wilson acted as presiding officer. He explained that Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, had met last Friday morning with the county commissioners just before the regular session. Mr. Wilson said that Dr. van Strien contended that Health Department problems should not be brought directly to the commissioners as the County Board of Health, but should go through "channels." The commissioner added that the doctor told him he was unaware of dissatisfaction in the department. Dr. van Strien also told the commissioner, he said, that he had graded all but two of the employes as "good."

One Health Department employe explained that there has been considerable confusion in the department for which the director could not be held responsible.

He pointed out that much confusion resulted in the implementation of the Case Plan, whereby some employes became state employes and others county employes.

Salary raises, established by the state and over which the county had no control, also were responsible for some other confusion.

Movement of Health Department facilities out of the City Hall basement, and now out of the Public Safety Building to the Union Street County Building, have added to the confusion.

A representative of the Cumberland Lions Club, which contributes over $9,000 a year through its sight conservation program, said the physician in charge of this program had complained about frequent changing of the personnel of the clinic staff.

In answer to a question from the audience, Commissioners Wilson and Mason stressed that most of the complaints they had

GOP Candidates Accept Bids To Lincoln Dinner

Two candidates for the Republican nomination to Congress from Maryland's Sixth District will attend the annual Lincoln Day dinner planned here next Wednesday.

They are Del. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Frederick County, and James A. Buchanan IV, Rockville, Montgomery County, according to J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman for the Republican Committee of Allegany County.

Mrs. Alvin Aubinoe, Montgomery County, chairman of the Sixth District Congressional Committee, has also accepted an invitation to attend the campaign rally.

Eugene J. Lyons, President Eisenhower's speical assistant, will be the principal speaker at the dinner planned February 17 at 7:30 p. m. in Asbury Hall, Centre Street Methodist Church.

Final plans for the dinner will be made, Mr. Beall said, when the Republican Committee meets today at 7:30 p. m. at GOP Headquarters, 1 North Liberty Street.

A report on the ticket sale for the annual meeting will be presented during the meeting. Tickets, Mr. Beall said, may be secured from party headquarters or from any member of the GOP committee.

Mr. Lyons served as assistant postmaster general for six years before he was named special assistant to the President in December.

Before going to Washington, he was vice president for personnel and a member of the management committee of Merck and Company.

He was born in Colorado Springs October 22, 1904 and resides in Springfield, Montgomery County.

Local Girl Scout Troop Takes First Aid Course

Members of Mariner Ship Flying Cloud Troop 20, Girl Scouts, whose entire program centers around sailing, rowboating and other water activities, yesterday afternoon completed their final lesson in a standard first aid course offered by the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Dr. Rita E. Brinker, local chiropractor, taught the girls the course over a period of ten weeks at the Emmanuel Episcopal Church on Washington Street. Artificial respiration, including the present-day mouth-to-mouth method, highlighted the final lesson of the course.

Mrs. David Powers, scout leader, said the members who took the course include Martha Ann Claus, Cheryl Pence, Kristen Ray Johnson, Kathleen Marie Sullivan, Deborah Lee Boden, Sarah Jane Powers, Frances Elaine Leger, Margaret Ellen Filler, Diana Wendt, Sandra Roeder, Virginia Alice Holzshu, Dorothy Long, Phyllis Jean Phillips, Paula Rae Shuck, Mary Brenda Bonebreak and Karen Sue Holbrook.

Two members of Girl Scout Troop 12, sponsored by the Woman's Civic Group, also took the course. They are Sandra Kay Godwin and Elizabeth Kerr. Assistant leader of Troop 20 is Mrs. Henry Holzshu.

The Mariner troop, the first formed in the Cumberland area, is almost three years old, according to Mrs. Powers, who said the members range in age from 14 to 16.

The unit has purchased two rowboats which will be used later in the spring. Deep Creek Lake State Park will offer facilities this summer for scout activities, and the youngsters are looking forward to a trip to Camp Rockwood near Washington.

They enjoy sailing on the lake as part of their scouting program. During the winter months they take advantage of swimming facilities at Central YMCA. This past July, four of the members attended the Senior Scout Roundup held in Colorado.

Mrs. Powers said the girls did "very well" in the first aid course, and enjoyed the interesting lessons.

Ballet Company Will Perform Here Friday

The American Ballet Center Company, a contingent of 25 dancers with orchestra, will appear at Fort Hill High School auditorium Friday at 8:15 p. m. under the auspices of the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

The company, founded only last year under the auspices of its school, New York's famed American Ballet Center, is making its transcontinental debut this season by arrangement of Columbia Artists Management, Inc.

The new company of soloists is headed by Robert Joffrey, renowned for his work as director and chief choreographer of the Robert Joffrey Theatre Ballet, and in the New York City Opera, television and the musical stage.

Presenting some of America's most gifted young dance stars, the company has a large and impressive repertoire of ballets prepared by world-famous choreographers. These works range from the classic through the romantic and dramatic, to the excitement of present-day living.

The initial announcements of the new company inspired a flurry of excitement among the American dance public, and the managerial offices were besieged with requests for appearances of the artists in cities and towns across the continent.

Attorney Hospitalized

W. Earle Cobey, local attorney, was reported "resting comfortably" last night at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted earlier in the evening as a medical patient.

County Farmers To Attend Cattle Meeting Thursday

Between 60 and 70 Allegany County farmers are expected to attend the annual livestock and dairy cattle meeting starting at 9:30 a. m. Thursday at the La-Vale Fire Hall, but County Agent Joseph M. Steger says that only about 25 of them have actually notified his office at the Court House of their intentions to attend.

Speakers at the all-day session will be Theodore R. Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland; Dr. G. W. Green, Maryland Livestock Sanitation Service, Frederick; Robert Schabinger, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, and Dr. George Stevens, farm management specialist at the University of Maryland.

James Robison will be the presiding officer at the meeting. The program will open with a film at 9:30 a. m. entitled "Loose Housing." Mr. Bissell, the first speaker, will discuss "Hay Spraying Program For Allegany County and Precautions Necessary For Health Regulations" starting at 10 a. m. He will cover the new materials necessary to use in spraying alfalfa for weevil and spittle bugs on clover and other hay crops.

"Good Sanitary Practices For Livestock and Dairy Growers From the Veterinary Standpoint" will be discussed by Dr. Green starting at 11 a. m. This will be followed by a free luncheon served by the Cumberland Fair Association.

Mr. Schabinger will speak twice during the afternoon session. He will speak on "Antibiotic And Drug Tolerances Allowed In Milk" at 1 p. m. and "Sterility Problems in Dairy and Beef Cattle" at 2:15 p. m.

"The Future of Agriculture In Allegany County" will be the topic of Dr. Stevens, starting at 1:30 p. m. He will give an outlook on agriculture and dairying in the county and the probable changes within the immediate future.

Potomac Edison Is Modernizing Its River Plant

Substation Planned In Frostburg Area

Modernization of boiler and electrical controls and equipment at the Cumberland River Plant of the Potomac Edison Company is now under way as part of expenditures of over $25,000,000 worth of expansion and reinforcement of the system's plant facilities planned in the next three years.

Part of the modernization of the local plant includes changing the automatic system from hydraulic to air and transforming the manually-operated soot-blowers into an automatic operation.

Cost of the change-over, which is expected to be completed shortly, will be approximately $45,000, according to local company officials.

New Substation

Also part of the company expansion will be the installation of a substation at Carlos Junction near Frostburg. This substation will transfer capacity from present 132,000-volt transmission lines to a 34,500-volt system in the area.

Company officials explained this means that the larger 132,000-volt line is being tapped at that point for another source to feed power into Frostburg, Midland, Lonaconing and the Georges Creek area.

The $25,000,000 construction budget provides expenditures of over $8,589,600 in 1960.

Three-Year Program

The three-year program calls for expenditures of nearly $9,500,000 in 1961 and over $7,000,000 in 1962.

Largest outlay calls for well over $10,000,000 to be spent for construction, expansion and improvement of the company's vast distribution line system. Extension and improvement of transmission line facilities will require over $5,500,000.

Substation construction work, both transmission and distribution, will require expenditures in excess of $7,000,000. Improvements to general plant facilities, such as office buildings and service facilities, will cost over $3,000,000.

Part of the expenditures will include a new transmission line from the LaVale substation to Corriganville. This work is expected to be completed this year. Then the line will be continued from Corriganville to Hyndman, Pa., in 1961, officials said.

Two Delegates Seek To Raise Sales Tax Take

One Measure Would Raise Teacher Pay

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes' stand against any tax increases next fiscal year was under a two-way assault Monday night by legislators wanting to collect more levies on retail sales.

Del. Cook (D-Montgomery) and three others proposed to lower the starting tax rate on sales from 51 to 14 cents and impose it on restaurant meals. They would use the extra money to help finance the controversial full pay raise to school teachers which Tawes has refused.

Del. Stark (D-Balto 5th) also proposed to start sales tax collections at 35 cents instead of 51. His purpose is to reap some money for Baltimore City and he would accomplish it by having the state return a percentage of the sales taxes to all the subdivisions.

The sales taxes are the only major source of Maryland revenue which the state doesn't share with the subdivisions.

Backers Arrive

A caravan of 200 cars carrying 8000 persons from Prince Georges County crowded into the Statehouse galleries as the Legislature resumed the second week of its 30-day session.

The teachers are seeking to raise their state minimum pay scale from $3,200-$5,000 to $4,000-$6,000. That would cost 16 million dollars over a two-year period.

Gov. Tawes has recommended only 4.3 million be given to veteran teachers.

The conflicting approaches will be aired Tuesday by the two finance committees of the Legislature and the Statehouse is expected to be packed with parent-teacher representatives from all over the state.

Rival Bills Explained

The sales tax proposal by Del. Cook would charge a penny for purchases between 14 and 33 cents, 2 cents for between 34 and 66, and 3 cents between 67 and one dollar.

The tax on restaurant meals would be 2 cents for prices between 51 and 66 cents and 3 cents between 67 and $1.

In another move to raise more money, Del. Stark introduced a bill that would subject savings and loans associations to a franchise tax of 10 cents per $100 on deposit over half a million. The associations now are exempt from such state taxation.

Other New Bills

Other new bills received in the House would revise the rate of contributions by employers to the fund for jobless benefits and change the small loan laws.

The maximum amount of small

Tawes Cites Importance Of Road Speedup

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes Monday called a proposed speedup in construction of Maryland's main highways "perhaps the most significant measure to come before the General Assembly", next to his budget.

He told Maryland highway contractors meeting here that the proposal is "a bold and imaginative scheme to rescue our 12-year roads program from a sea of trouble in which it floundered" and said he concurs heartily in it.

Legislation now before the Assembly will permit the State Roads Commission to disregard timetables set in the 12-year program, inaugurated in 1954, and press ahead for completion of some 390 miles of arterial highways with funds remaining in the program.

Most of these highways would not be completed for 10 years or more at the rate the program is now moving.

"In no sense of the word does this mean that we are breaking faith with the Maryland people in failing to fulfill pledges made in the inauguration of the 12-year program," Tawes said.

"Rising costs, improved design standards and other factors, have made it impossible to fulfill in exact form and under precise schedules these pledges."

Tawes said the 12-year program, although well conceived and properly planned at the time, "now stands as an impediment to an orderly and efficient system of highway construction and rehabilitation."

He praised Chairman John B. Funk and the State Roads Commission for pointing a way out of the dilemma which will still allow major road networks to be completed by 1965.

The governor said he would be against raising taxes on motorists "at this time" in order to complete all roads earmarked for improvement in the program, "particularly in view of the proposal of the federal government for a half-cent increase in the gasoline tax this session of Congress."

Potomac Council Scouts To Attend State Event

Three Boy Scouts representing Potomac Council will visit Annapolis today to take part in the statewide ceremony in observance of national Boy Scout Week.

Selected from the local council were Cub Scout Steve Taylor, Boy Scout Gordon Carpenter and Explorer Scout Morris Brookhart. They will be accompanied to Annapolis by Willis V. Smith, scout executive for Potomac Council.

The Taylor youth is a son of Mrs. Marian Grove, 717 Washington Street, and is a member of Cub Pack 20, Mt. Royal PTA. Gordon Carpenter is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carpenter, Frostburg, and is a member of Troop 42, First Methodist Church, Frostburg. The Brookhart youth is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brookhart Sr., Oakland, and is a member of Post 31, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club.

Scouts from throughout Maryland will tour the State House this morning and then will meet with Governor J. Millard Tawes.

The governor will address the group after he is presented with the Golden Book of Scouting from the National Council, marking the 50th anniversary of Scouting in America which is being observed in 1960.

The scouts then will tour Carvel Hall before they are served luncheon, which will be attended by the governor, other state officials and several officers of the United States Naval Academy.

Local Man Dies While Driving

Arthur C. Schlunt Collapses In Car

A 47-year-old local man who suffered a heart attack yesterday while driving his car on Columbia Street was pronounced dead on arrival at Sacred Heart Hospital where he was taken by city police.

Arthur Clarence Schlunt of 101 Decatur Street was stricken while operating his car near 127 Columbia Street and slumped into the lap of his wife, who grabbed the emergency brake of the car as it struck a parked car causing minor damage.

City police received an emergency call at 3:15 p. m. and rushed to the Columbia Street address to take the man to the hospital.

Born in Cumberland on September 19, 1912, Mr. Schlunt was a son of Mrs. Alma (Hartman) Schlunt, 101 Decatur Street and the late John Conrad Schlunt.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Virginia (Keyser) Schlunt, he is survived by two daughters, Sheila and Nancy Schlunt, both at home, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Miller, Takoma Park.

Mr. Schlunt was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church and a member of the 45th Division (Thunderbird) in World War II.

The body is at the Silcox Funeral Residence where a service will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. with Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Friends will be received at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Church Plans Evangelistic Program During February

First Christian Church, 312 Bedford Street, is conducting an evangelistic program during the month of February which will be highlighted by a concert by Ben Stevenson, the "Singing Marine," on February 28.

Mr. Stevenson, who sang for two seasons with the Metropolitan Opera in New York City, will hold a choir clinic at First Christian Church at 7:30 p. m. on February 27. The public is invited to hear the concert the following evening at 7:30 p. m. by the member of the Department of Men's Work of the United Christian Missionary Society.

Rev. Ralph Burnette, pastor of the church, said last night that the evangelistic program is titled, "Build the Church — Through Daring Discipleship."

Each week emphasis will be placed on a different phase of the endeavor to bring more members into the church, he said.

This week is "Operation Post Office." Each member of the church will mail at least five cards of invitation for persons to attend church and Bible school.

The week of February 14 is "Operation Party Line." Each member will call at least five persons on the telephone to invite them to church.

The week of February 21 is "Operation Dragnet" when each member is urged to bring at least one other person to church services and Bible school on February 28.

The final week, February 28 through March 6, will be devoted to "Operation Knock, Knock" when members will make at least five personal visits to other homes to invite church attendance.

During the week of February 14 through February 20 church teams will call on assigned prospective members.

On February 26, First Christian Church will be host to the Hampshire District men's and women's rally, Rev. Burnette said.

Nuclear Power Plant Slated At Saxton, Pa.

Will Feed Energy To Turbine Unit

Excavation work will be done by the Frank M. Sheesley Company, Johnston, expected to remove some 6,000 cubic yards of material, mostly rock, during the next few months, according to the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat.

Donald R. Rees, general manager of the corporation, said a cylindrical, dome-topped building, 50 feet in diameter and 110 feet high, will be erected in the pit so almost half of it will be under ground.

To Give Heat

The structure will be erected by Bethlehem Steel Company which will use 283 tons of steel plates up to three-quarters of an inch thick.

While work on the building progresses, various parts of the nuclear reactor will be fabricated by several suppliers.

One of the major components will be a "reactor vessel," built by the A. O. Smith Corp., Milwaukee. The vessel also will be

Corriganville Association To Elect Officers

The Streetlight and Development Association of Corriganville will hold its election of officers tonight at 8 o'clock at the community fire hall.

In addition to the report of the nominating committee and election, the group will discuss future fund raising campaigns for maintenance of the street lights in Corriganville.

W. D. Murphy, president of the association, last night urged all citizens of the community to attend this important meeting.

Harry Martz and Okland Geiger will make the report on nominations for tonight's election.

City Plans Ban On Sewer Taps Beyond Limits

Attorney Instructed To Draft Ordinance

The City of Cumberland will not grant any further permits for sewer taps for any property built, or being built, outside the city limits.

Street Commissioner John J. Long served as acting mayor in the absence of Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who is recuperating at his home after a bout with pneumonia.

The decision followed considerable discussion on the policy which should be adopted in connection with persons outside the city limits tapping in on city sewer lines.

After the ban was tentatively adopted, city officials referred the subject to City Attorney William R. Carscaden, who was asked to prepare the necessary ordinance or ordinances needed to place the plan into effect.

Council also instructed City Engineer C. R. Nuzum to check into the matter and report on the number of properties outside the city limits that have been taken into the city sewage system.

There was general agreement, a city spokesman said, that the city will not allow future sewer taps for properties outside the city limits.

There were no figures available immediately on the number of such sewer taps which were issued in the past to non-residents.

For instance, a non-resident who is served as an individual customer by the Water Department pays a minimum of $10 a quarter for water, as opposed to the $5.40 minimum paid by residents.

Non-residents also pay a minimum of $7.50 a quarter for sewage line, as opposed to the minimum of $4.05 for residents.

One City Hall source pointed out that non-residents who have been allowed to tie in to city water and sewage lines secure such vital city services for only a fraction of the amount they would pay in city taxes.

Board Adopts Procedure On City Housing

Procdure to be used in connection with housing complaints within the City of Cumberland was adopted yesterday morning by the City Health Board.

The plan calls for the Allegany County Health Department to investigate all complaints concerning housing and then to ask the city fire chief, city engineer and health officer to make independent investigations.

Results of the investigations will be compiled by the Health Department and presented to the Board of Health.

If the Board of Health decides that further action is necessary, it will authorize the county health officer to placard the house and to proceed toward correction by using its own rules and regulations and charter ordinances of the City of Cumberland.

As the last step, if further action is needed, the health officer would report back to the Board of Health which could then authorize the city solicitor to proceed with condemnation proceedings or to take whatever legal steps are needed for correction.

The Board of Health was advised that the City of Cumberland will pay nominal costs for reprinting its rules and regulations regarding housing and placards and necessary notices, with the understanding that costs will not exceed $100.

Present at the meeting held in City Hall were Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder, Fire Chief Virgil Parker and City Attorney William R. Carscaden, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum; Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer and secretary of the board, and J. B. Dowling, Health Department sanitarian.

Yesterday's special meeting followed a conference last Monday when officials of the State Board of Health and the Allegany County Juvenile and Trial Magistrates courts presented reports on the problem.

County Health Investigation Now Planned

Few Persons Speak At Court House

About 40 persons, primarily employes of the Allegany County Health Department along with some citizens interested in the department's welfare, attended an inconclusive meeting last night with the Board of County Commissioners at which the commissioners decided that a private investigation into the Health Department's administration will be conducted in the near future.

Gorman E. Getty, acting as attorney for the Health Department employes, informed the commissioners after his arrival at the meeting that public criticism by any employes might jeopardize their jobs and also would hurt public confidence in the department.

W. Earl Cobey had been expected to act as attorney for the employes but was taken to Memorial Hospital rather suddenly last night. As a result Mr. Getty did not get word to attend the meeting until his return to Cumberland by train more than an hour after the meeting started.

Rowan Absent

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, was absent last night because he had been in Baltimore yesterday on county business.

Commissioners William A. Wilson and John T. Mason were on hand and Mr. Wilson acted as presiding officer. He explained that Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, had met last Friday morning with the county commissioners just before the regular session. Mr. Wilson said that Dr. van Strien contended that Health Department problems should not be brought directly to the commissioners as the County Board of Health, but should go through "channels." The commissioner added that the doctor told him he was unaware of dissatisfaction in the department. Dr. van Strien also told the commissioner, he said, that he had graded all but two of the employes as "good."

One Health Department employe explained that there has been considerable confusion in the department for which the director could not be held responsible.

He pointed out that much confusion resulted in the implementation of the Case Plan, whereby some employes became state employes and others county employes.

Salary raises, established by the state and over which the county had no control, also were responsible for some other confusion.

Movement of Health Department facilities out of the City Hall basement, and now out of the Public Safety Building to the Union Street County Building, have added to the confusion.

A representative of the Cumberland Lions Club, which contributes over $9,000 a year through its sight conservation program, said the physician in charge of this program had complained about frequent changing of the personnel of the clinic staff.

In answer to a question from the audience, Commissioners Wilson and Mason stressed that most of the complaints they had

The three-year program calls for expenditures of nearly $9,500,000 in 1961 and over $7,000,000 in 1962.

Largest outlay calls for well over $10,000,000 to be spent for construction, expansion and improvement of the company's vast distribution line system. Extension and improvement of transmission line facilities will require over $5,500,000.

Substation construction work, both transmission and distribution, will require expenditures in excess of $7,000,000. Improvements to general plant facilities, such as office buildings and service facilities, will cost over $3,000,000.

Part of the expenditures will include a new transmission line from the LaVale substation to Corriganville. This work is expected to be completed this year. Then the line will be continued from Corriganville to Hyndman, Pa., in 1961, officials said.

Two Delegates Seek To Raise Sales Tax Take

One Measure Would Raise Teacher Pay

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes' stand against any tax increases next fiscal year was under a two-way assault Monday night by legislators wanting to collect more levies on retail sales.

Del. Cook (D-Montgomery) and three others proposed to lower the starting tax rate on sales from 51 to 14 cents and impose it on restaurant meals. They would use the extra money to help finance the controversial full pay raise to school teachers which Tawes has refused.

Del. Stark (D-Balto 5th) also proposed to start sales tax collections at 35 cents instead of 51. His purpose is to reap some money for Baltimore City and he would accomplish it by having the state return a percentage of the sales taxes to all the subdivisions.

The sales taxes are the only major source of Maryland revenue which the state doesn't share with the subdivisions.

Backers Arrive

The combination sales tax-teachers pay bill was introduced simultaneously with the arrival of a vanguard of thousands of supporters for the full teacher proposal.

A caravan of 200 cars carrying 8000 persons from Prince Georges County crowded into the Statehouse galleries as the Legislature resumed the second week of its 30-day session.

The teachers are seeking to raise their state minimum pay scale from $3,200-$5,000 to $4,000-$6,000. That would cost 16 million dollars over a two-year period.

Gov. Tawes has recommended only 4.3 million be given to veteran teachers.

The conflicting approaches will be aired Tuesday by the two finance committees of the Legislature and the Statehouse is expected to be packed with parent-teacher representatives from all over the state.

Rival Bills Explained

The sales tax proposal by Del. Cook would charge a penny for purchases between 14 and 33 cents, 2 cents for between 34 and 66, and 3 cents between 67 and one dollar.

The tax on restaurant meals would be 2 cents for prices between 51 and 66 cents and 3 cents between 67 and $1.

Stark's new taxes would be a penny for between 35 and 66 cents, 2 for 67-90 and 3 for 91-$1.

The present rate of the sales tax is 2 cents between 51 and 60 and 3 between 67 and $1.

In another move to raise more money, Del. Stark introduced a bill that would subject savings and loans associations to a franchise tax of 10 cents per $100 on deposit over half a million. The associations now are exempt from such state taxation.

Other New Bills

Other new bills received in the House would revise the rate of contributions by employers to the fund for jobless benefits and change the small loan laws.

Tawes Cites Importance Of Road Speedup

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes Monday called a proposed speedup in construction of Maryland's main highways "perhaps the most significant measure to come before the General Assembly", next to his budget.

He told Maryland highway contractors meeting here that the proposal is "a bold and imaginative scheme to rescue our 12-year roads program from a sea of trouble in which it floundered" and said he concurs heartily in it.

Legislation now before the Assembly will permit the State Roads Commission to disregard timetables set in the 12-year program, inaugurated in 1954, and press ahead for completion of some 390 miles of arterial highways with funds remaining in the program.

Most of these highways would not be completed for 10 years or more at the rate the program is now moving.

"In no sense of the word does this mean that we are breaking faith with the Maryland people in failing to fulfill pledges made in the inauguration of the 12-year program," Tawes said.

"Rising costs, improved design standards and other factors, have made it impossible to fulfill in exact form and under precise schedules these pledges."

Tawes said the 12-year program, although well conceived and properly planned at the time, "now stands as an impediment to an orderly and efficient system of highway construction and rehabilitation."

He praised Chairman John B. Funk and the State Roads Commission for pointing a way out of the dilemma which will still allow major road networks to be completed by 1965.

The governor said he would be against raising taxes on motorists "at this time" in order to complete all roads earmarked for improvement in the program, "particularly in view of the proposal of the federal government for a half-cent increase in the gasoline tax this session of Congress."

Nuclear Power Plant Slated At Saxton, Pa.

Will Feed Energy To Turbine Unit

Members of Cumberland Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will take part in the construction of a nuclear reactor which is to be built in Saxton, Pa., about 60 miles northeast of here.

The Saxton Nuclear Experimental Corporation is scheduled to begin construction of the facility this week.

Excavation work will be done by the Frank M. Sheesley Company, Johnston, which is expected to remove some 6,000 cubic yards of material, mostly rock, during the next few months, according to the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat.

Donald R. Rees, general manager of the corporation, said a cylindrical, dome-topped building, 50 feet in diameter and 110 feet high, will be erected in the pit so almost half of it will be under ground.

To Give Heat

The structure will be erected by Bethlehem Steel Company which will use 283 tons of steel plates up to three-quarters of an inch thick.

While work on the building progresses, various parts of the nuclear reactor will be fabricated by several suppliers.

Church Plans Evangelistic Program During February

First Christian Church, 312 Bedford Street, is conducting an evangelistic program during the month of February which will be highlighted by a concert by Ben Stevenson, the "Singing Marine," on February 28.

Mr. Stevenson, who sang for two seasons with the Metropolitan Opera in New York City, will hold a choir clinic at First Christian Church at 7:30 p. m. on February 27. The public is invited to hear the concert the following evening at 7:30 p. m. by the member of the Department of Men's Work of the United Christian Missionary Society.

Rev. Ralph Burnette, pastor of the church, said last night that the evangelistic program is titled, "Build the Church — Through Daring Discipleship."

Each week emphasis will be placed on a different phase of the endeavor to bring more members into the church, he said.

This week is "Operation Post Office." Each member of the church will mail at least five cards of invitation for persons to attend church and Bible school.

The week of February 14 is "Operation Party Line." Each member will call at least five persons on the telephone to invite them to church.

The week of February 21 is "Operation Dragnet" when each member is urged to bring at least one other person to church services and Bible school on February 28.

The final week, February 28 through March 6, will be devoted to "Operation Knock, Knock" when members will make at least five personal visits to other homes to invite church attendance.

During the week of February 14 through February 20 church teams will call on assigned prospective members.

On February 26, First Christian Church will be host to the Hampshire District men's and women's rally, Rev. Burnette said.

City Plans Ban On Sewer Taps Beyond Limits

Attorney Instructed To Draft Ordinance

The City of Cumberland will not grant any further permits for sewer taps for any property built, or being built, outside the city limits.

A tentative agreement on the ban was reached at a post-council meeting yesterday morning.

Street Commissioner John J. Long served as acting mayor in the absence of Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who is recuperating at his home after a bout with pneumonia.

The decision followed considerable discussion on the policy which should be adopted in connection with persons outside the city limits tapping in on city sewer lines.

After the ban was tentatively adopted, city officials referred the subject to City Attorney William R. Carscaden, who was asked to prepare the necessary ordinance or ordinances needed to place the plan into effect.

Council also instructed City Engineer C. R. Nuzum to check into the matter and report on the number of properties outside the city limits that have been taken into the city sewage system.

There was general agreement, a city spokesman said, that the city will not allow future sewer taps for properties outside the city limits.

There were no figures available immediately on the number of such sewer taps which were issued in the past to non-residents.

Those who now have such city services are paying premium prices.

For instance, a non-resident who is served as an individual customer by the Water Department pays a minimum of $10 a quarter for water, as opposed to the $5.40 minimum paid by residents.

Non-residents also pay a minimum of $7.50 a quarter for sewage line, as opposed to the minimum of $4.05 for residents.

One City Hall source pointed out that non-residents who have been allowed to tie in to city water and sewage lines secure such vital city services for only a fraction of the amount they would pay in city taxes.

Board Adopts Procedure On City Housing

Procdure to be used in connection with housing complaints within the City of Cumberland was adopted yesterday morning by the City Health Board.

The plan calls for the Allegany County Health Department to investigate all complaints concerning housing and then to ask the city fire chief, city engineer and health officer to make independent investigations.

Results of the investigations will be compiled by the Health Department and presented to the Board of Health.

If the Board of Health decides that further action is necessary, it will authorize the county health officer to placard the house and to proceed toward correction by using its own rules and regulations and charter ordinances of the City of Cumberland.

As the last step, if further action is needed, the health officer would report back to the Board of Health which could then authorize the city solicitor to proceed with condemnation proceedings or to take whatever legal steps are needed for correction.

The Board of Health was advised that the City of Cumberland will pay nominal costs for reprinting its rules and regulations regarding housing and placards and necessary notices, with the understanding that costs will not exceed $100.

Present at the meeting held in City Hall were Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder, City Attorney William R. Carscaden, Fire Chief Virgil Parker and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum; Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer and secretary of the board, and J. B. Dowling, Health Department sanitarian.

Yesterday's special meeting followed a conference last Monday when officials of the State Board of Health and the Allegany County Juvenile and Trial Magistrates courts presented reports on the problem.
